Byron Curry is so accustomed to relief work that he can't get away from it. En route north on vacation he observes a hollow tree and he "claimed" it for me as a habitation, evidently assuming that conditions were going to get much worse. He didn't stop with providing a home but in his thoughtful way arranged to stock the place with food. He contracted with a squirrel to bring it to me.

Plim, the Younger, said: "The day, when the longest, steals imperceptibly away." That's what happened Monday, if you were busy.

Valeri Chelakoff, the Russian, pilot who remained at the controls for 63 hours without taking food, was not a slave to custom. Along about noon time every day we eat just because it is customary to do so with most of us, which means we wouldn't make a very good pilot on a Moscow to Oakland flight. Had a professional friend who ate one meal a day. Had no definite time. Just waited until he was hungry and then satisfied his hunger to the limit. He died at 86. This is not a cafe advertisement, just an experience.

Vacationist sends me a souvenir card showing the "seven sisters in Stanley park," but you'll be disappointed when I tell you they are trees, unless you are a disciple of Joyce Kilmer.

Elmer Heldt is making confidential plans to spend his vacation at Balboa, and intends to send me one of those "I wish you were here cards." If he does it will be his last vacation.

There is a great variation this season in Valencia orange results. Some growers escape with little damage, others are favored with an almost normal pack, and others suffer close to a total loss. The district does not appear to enter so much into the results. Even in cases where the grower resorted to smudging, damage was severe. And then again a grower who did not use heaters escaped disaster. The frost operated indiscriminately. It is a hard year for the orange grower, but he will weather the storm. The infrequency of such 1937's are an assurance of substantiality.

It just can't be done. Put a short dress on a woman three score and ten and make a girl out of her. However, I'm in favor of them trying it. Youth, crushed by time, shall be revived.

Peaceful relations again exist between Postmaster Harwood and my box rent due notice, which was received today and paid today. The temporary obligation and its attendant uneasiness was all on my part. Frank has been away attending a postmasters meeting and appropriated an additional job. His boys maintained the high standard of efficiency and got my notice to me with customary alacrity. By the way I haven't heard that the postoffice is complaining of business being dull.

12 Navy Planes Buck Storms Near Canal Goal

SAN DIEGO. (AP)—Twelve navy patrol planes which left here at 11:30 a. m. yesterday were believed nearing their goal, Coco Solo, C. Z. today.

The last radio report received here said the planes had crossed the Gulf of Tehuantepec on the southwestern coast of Mexico at 5 a. m. At that time they were 2107 miles from San Diego, with 980 miles to go.

They ran into storms off Nicaragua.

PASTOR GETS CALL FROM RIVERSIDE

First Methodist Church
To Have Minister
From Pasadena

By JACK ELLWANGER

Santa Ana's two-fisted pulpiteer is leaving.

The Rev. Dr. George A. Warmer, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church, who, in his own words, "never hesitated to speak his mind from the pulpit," has been transferred to the pastorate of the First Methodist church of Riverside and will assume his new duties there next Sunday.

His successor here will be the Rev. Harry I. Rasmus, jr., assistant pastor of the First Methodist church at Pasadena, who, with

DR. WARNER BECOMES A FATHER AGAIN

The Rev. Dr. George A. Warmer, pastor of the First Methodist church of Santa Ana, is a father again, he revealed today.

A son, named Thomas Parnell, was born to Mrs. Warmer last Tuesday at the Anaheim sanitarium, and both she and the baby "are doing fine," said the minister who smilingly remarked he had been "too busy during the past week to announce the birth sooner."

There are five other children in the family.

Mrs. Rasmus is expected to arrive next week.

Was Here 10 Years

When the 54-year-old Dr. Warmer severs his 10 years association with the local church, he will leave behind him an accomplishment of church building difficult to equal in a city of this size, and a record of social endeavor among the less fortunate (See WARNER, Page 2)

RESCUE YOUTH AT 'V' POOL

Larson Gene Larson, 14, of 1105 Oak street, was pulled from the Y. M. C. A. pool last evening after he lost control of himself in the deep water beneath the diving board.

The rescue squad of the fire department was summoned, but the use of the inhalator was not necessary. Dr. Dexter Ball also was called to the scene.

Young Larson, with several other boys, was diving under the water and attempting to leap out of the water and catch the end of the diving board. Missing the board, he fell back into the water and floundered. He was pulled out by David Hunter, Y. M. C. A. life guard.

Well, I'll Tell You----

By BOB BURNS

You can say all you want to about naggin' wives, but I want to tell you some men never would do a thing if they didn't have a wife like that to drive 'em. My Uncle Dewey Durp was like that. When Aunt Nettle took a headache and started whinin', Uncle Dewey would rush to the 'phone and call the doctor right away, but one mornin' Aunt Nettle woke up with the lockjaw and Uncle Dewey's true nature come out. He says, "Well, I'll call the doctor but I want to be sure and get the right one, and I can always think better when I'm sittin' on a bank fishin'."

When he got home that night he was purty tired and he says, "I think I'll wait and call the Doc in the mornin'." So next mornin' he got up at 10 o'clock and he called the doctor after he'd had his breakfast. He says, "Doc, my wife's got a bad case of the lockjaw and if you happen to be out in this neighborhood in the next week or so, you might drop in."

SHEPPARD IS FACED WITH BOYCOTT

Walsh Says Townsend
Group to Ignore
Meeting Here

A Townsend boycott of Congressman Harry Sheppard's meeting here July 1 was on the horizon today.

J. H. Walsh, district manager of Townsend clubs here, today said, "Two loyal Townsends will attend that meeting as far as I know. As district manager, I will not be at the dinner table."

A different story, however, was told at Democratic headquarters here. It was announced that Townsend clubs here, and that none of the reservations already made by Townsends have been cancelled.

Result of "Break"

The threatened boycott of Sheppard followed his break with Dr. F. E. Townsend, pension plan founder, over President Roosevelt's supreme court reorganization plan.

"The general consensus of members is that Townsends will not attend," Walsh said.

He said Dr. Townsend will be at a Riverside meeting, probably July 5, and will deal directly with what Townsends call Sheppard's desertion of the Townsend leader.

"No Separation"

"None of the clubs in this district," said Walsh, "will tolerate any separation of Dr. Townsend from the Townsend program."

In speaking of Democratic meetings at Riverside scheduled for early in July, at which Sheppard will appear, Walsh said, "Those are simply Democratic activities in which Townsends are not interested at all."

Sheppard is being groomed for leadership of the General Welfare clubs promoted to push the pension plan act in congress. The meeting here July 1 will be a big Democratic rally.

Laughs at Plan

Discussing the eruption in the Townsend movement, Walsh declared that he has not broken with Sheppard, but that Sheppard has broken with him because of his desertion of Dr. Townsend.

Last night Walsh laughed at the General Welfare plan, saying that it is but another rebel organization which will die out. He also criticized national officials of the Townsend movement who, he said, have gone on a sit-down strike against Dr. Townsend.

Water Bonds Stir Heavy Thinkers

By JOHN MCCLELLAND

Some heavy thinking is going to be done by Santa Anans before they go to the polls in the water bond election next month.

Rebels Call Upon SANTANDER TO GIVE UP

RENDAYE. (AP)—Franco-Spanish Frontiers—Insurgent air squadrons scattered thousands of proclamations over Santander today demanding its surrender.

Airplanes also showered the countryside with pamphlets reporting the capture of Bilbao, advising government troops that further resistance was futile and calling upon them to lay down their arms.

The three are John H. Gage, Benjamin Sterns and James Louis. They are charged with violating the state law making the operating of gambling devices a misdemeanor.

J. H. Modill and C. F. Kerr who, with Gage, owned the establishment raided, told the district attorney's office yesterday that the gambling equipment was put in by Louis while they were away and without their knowledge. Louis is reported to have admitted ownership of $7000 worth of gambling devices seized.

STEEL STRIKE FRONT LINED BY TROOPS

'Butchery' Forestalled
By Guards; Plants
Fail to Reopen

YOUNGSTOWN, O. (AP)—Steel-helmeted national guardsmen brought peace to the strike-ridden Mahoning Valley today.

Under orders of the governor of Ohio and with the approval of President Roosevelt, the first contingents of a force of 4800 men deployed along a 25-mile front to end a night of fear and forestall what John L. Lewis had called "contemplated butchery" at the scheduled reopening of four steel mills in defiance of Lewis' steel union.

God humor and song replaced the rumblings that had threatened to break into clashes between adherents of Lewis' committee for Industrial Organization and the ranks of "back-to-work" men.

"Easy now, you mugs," a national guard officer admonished the strikers. "We're not here to break the picket lines. We're here to see to it that nobody goes to work."

"We've won the strike!" was the unionists' cry.

"We'll have a signed contract in our pockets before the first of next week," Charles Fagan, a district leader, told 500 cheering CIO men.

FOUR POWERS IN BREAK

LONDON. (AP)—Four power negotiations over German demands for a display of naval strength to the Spanish central government broke down late today.

The break came after Great Britain had rejected flatly the German demand for joint retaliation against the Spanish central government because of an alleged attempt to torpedo the German cruiser Leipzig.

The rupture was disclosed in a communique issued after another talk at the British foreign office among Anthony Eden, British foreign secretary; Italian Ambassador Count Dino Grandi, German Ambassador Joachim Von Ribbentrop, and French Ambassador Charles Corbin.

"Unfortunately it was found impossible to reach an agreement on measures which should be adopted in this case," the communique said.

Germany had demanded that an "immediate naval demonstration be held showing the flags of the four powers" on the Spanish coast off Valencia, temporary seat of the Spanish central government. Eden had countered with a proposal that Europe begin the immediate recall of all foreign fighters from Spain.

GAMBLING CASE HEARING SET

Arraignment of three men arrested by Sheriff Logan Jackson in a San Clemente gambling raid Saturday night will take place Thursday at 2 o'clock in justice court at San Juan Capistrano, Assistant District Attorney James L. Davis said today.

The three are John H. Gage, Benjamin Sterns and James Louis. They are charged with violating the state law making the operating of gambling devices a misdemeanor.

J. H. Modill and C. F. Kerr who, with Gage, owned the establishment raided, told the district attorney's office yesterday that the gambling equipment was put in by Louis while they were away and without their knowledge. Louis is reported to have admitted ownership of $7000 worth of gambling devices seized.

John, Elaine Kiss, Make Up Again

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—John Barrymore and Elaine Barrie, after an ardent exchange of kisses at a railroad station today, announced that they are reconciled again and that she will dismiss her interlocutory decree of divorce. "I love only John," the dark-eyed New Yorker said. "We are very, very happy," added Barrymore.

Miss Barrie, born Elaine Jacobs, returned today from a personal appearance tour. After she won her divorce, last April 23, she went on the stage in a short-lived play in San Francisco. She also had a brief career in the movies.

To Live With Mama

She was smartly dressed as she left the train today, her attire contrasting sharply with that of Barrymore, who was wearing a rumpled business suit, and lacked a necktie.

She said her first move would be to set aside her decree, which would not become final for another 10 months.

"We are going home with mama, and then we are going house hunting. We won't live in the Tower road home anymore."

He Roughed Her Up

Elaine, 21, and John, 57, were married in a Yuma elopement last November. They separated New Year's eve. Explaining, shortly afterward, she said they had an argument in a night club, precipitated by Barrymore's refusal to allow her to go on the stage. "He roughed me up a bit," she said, "and I told him to go to his train's house until he felt better."

Then came the divorce. Mrs. Barrymore—the fourth woman to have acquired this name from John—charged he was "profane, sullen and morose, extremely abusive," and that he "threatened to kill me."

Surviving are Monroe's wife, Audrey, and five children, Bobbie, Charissa, Betty Jean, Vivian and Isaac, all of Orange. Announcement of funeral arrangements will be made later by the Brown and Wagner Funeral home here.

Three persons injured in an accident at 2:30 this morning were being treated in the county hospital today.

Yvonne Mansfield, 14, of 972 Austin street, Los Angeles, sustained an injured spine with possible fracture of a vertebrae. Her sister, Thelma Jackson, 23, was given first aid treatment for lacerations in the face and head. And Charles Jesse, age 34, of the same address also was treated for face cuts and bruises.

County Salary Figures Changed

Figures showing the average salary in the assessor's office here to be $165.83 per month do not give a true picture, Assessor James Sleeper pointed out today.

He said the average taken from the county payroll list covers only three principal deputies in executive positions in the office and not clerical workers or field deputies whose work is seasonal.

He said no provision has been made for mileage for deputies working in the field, and that their salaries are calculated to allow for car expense.

Tabulations of average salaries in other offices included larger numbers of clerical workers with the result that their average salaries appeared to be lower than those of the assessor's force.

JUDGE ADMITS EVIDENCE ON SAMPLES

Echoes of Past County
Election Likely to Reverberate

Superior Judge Benjamin F. Warner of San Bernardino county today touched off "political dynamite" in the Eden Refining company county road oil case.

He set spluttering again the fuse that nearly was drowned out yesterday afternoon when Lew W. Blodgett and Charles Swanner, attorneys for the Eden Refining company, objected to the introduction of any defense testimony on the part of Orange county.

Judge Warner's decision this morning held that specifications for road oil, as contained in the Eden contract, were not a warranty under the meaning of the California uniform sales act.

Didn't Give Notice

Had they been a warranty, Judge Warner pointed out, the county could not have set up a defense against the Eden suit to collect for road oil, because the county did not give notice to the refinery company that it considered the oil below specifications.

While Judge Warner's decision was a temporary victory for E. Z. McKinney, special counsel, and District Attorney W. F. Menton, it also set up a new threat in indicating that all matters in connection with the oil must be according to tests and specifications outlined by the American Society for Testing Materials.

Will Attack Samples

Swanner and Blodgett are prepared to attack the validity of "samples" taken by county oil truck drivers on grounds they were not taken as required by ASTM regulations.

Roy Scott, county truck driver from Garden Grove, testified this morning that he and his helper, Hugh Hayden, took two samples from each order of oil. Two tin cans used for samples were introduced as illustrations.

Meanwhile attorneys for both sides prepared to call a battery of experts. Highway superintendents of San Bernardino and Riverside counties, chemists from testing laboratories, and others have been summoned.

Expert Confuses Judge

Dr. Henry G. Kayser, petroleum engineer and chemist, yesterday described the ASTM tests for road oil in technical terms which Judge Warner were confusing to him.

Blodgett and Swanner rested their case yesterday afternoon after calling only a few witnesses. Their complaint merely charges that the company supplied $1729.70 worth of oil and was not paid.

All the fireworks in the case are in the county's answer and cross-complaint, which charge that the oil was deficient in asphalt content and contained large quantities of mud and water.

In his decision today, Judge Warner pointed out that the recent trend of legislation has "gradually placed upon the seller a greater obligation to tell the truth about his product."

"I am not willing to believe that every promise is a warranty and that the seller can collect if his promises are broken but are not discovered immediately by the buyer," he commented.

FARLEY DEFENDS MAIL SEIZURE

WASHINGTON. (AP)—Postmaster General Farley contended in United States district court today that the postoffice department had legal authority to stop deliveries of mailed food stuff into strike-besieged steel plants in Ohio.

Farley made the contention to a mandamus action brought against him by the Republic Steel Corporation in which the latter sought to compel the department to permit delivery of packages containing food and clothing to its plants in Niles and Warren, Ohio.

The postmaster general charged that the corporation had offered such packages for delivery primarily to involve the government in the industrial controversy.

A. F. L. OPENS ORGANIZATION DRIVE TO COMBAT C. I. O. HERE

'WAR' PLANS FORMED BY COUNCIL

Locals Will Appoint Men to Secure New Union Recruits

Orange county central labor council today laid plans to intensify greatly its membership drive in Orange county.

Meeting at labor headquarters, 402 West Fourth street, delegates approved the theory that the most effective way to combat competition of the C. I. O. is to act first in organizing. The local council is an A. F. of L. subdivision.

The plan provides that each union local will appoint not less than two members who will devote not less than an hour a week apiece to organization work.

Office Opened

Jack Trendle, recently appointed full-time secretary for the council, will maintain an office at the Labor temple, where he will receive requests for organization assistance. He will supervise handling of these requests.

Last night's session was in marked contrast to the meeting a week ago when a lively dispute broke out over the fight between A. F. of L. and C. I. O. The central labor council is an A. F. of L. subdivision.

Several delegates expressed regret that the Journal had reported the previous dispute, but the group decided against a suggestion to bar the Journal's reporter. Others told the Journal privately that the story had awakened organized labor to the dangers of internal strife.

Beet Workers Organize

Important developments reported last night included:

Sugar beet workers have formed a union of those working in sugar plants and will affiliate with the central labor council about July 12. Citrus workers organized 21 new members last week and announced that membership will be open to all working in citrus, whether as packing house workers, pickers or fumigators and sprayers.

Agricultural workers union, newest of county labor groups, has a membership of 250 and will affiliate soon with the central labor council.

Because of press of business and the increased tempo of labor activities, the council voted to meet every Monday night instead of twice a month.

Teamsters Active

Teamsters reported taking in 51 members last week and the signing of all drivers for one dairy.

Painters said membership is growing and that they cannot find enough union painters to handle all the work offered. Application for workmen are handled through the council office at the Labor temple.

Hod carriers, building and common laborers reported formation of a district council covering all of Southern California, and said jobs are open for union men in jack hammer work. Trendle will be business representative for the union.

City firemen last week initiated two men to make the fire department here 100 per cent organized under the A. F. of L.

Quick Results

Meat cutters said that since May 1 they have more than tripled membership and have increased the number of union meat markets in the county from five to more than 50.

Trendle, appointed two weeks ago as full time paid secretary, said the new arrangement already had proved its value in placing union men in jobs and in aiding organization work.

Teamsters in particular, he said, had followed his suggestion of having two or more members in fields outside their own work.

STRIFE TEARS BRITISH ISLE

PORT OF SPAIN. (AP)—Authorities anxiously looked today to the arrival of a British warship to help restore order to this British-owned island, torn by labor unrest which had brought death to six persons.

Officials said a vessel of the West Indies squadron of the British navy was due today, and marines and sailors would land immediately.

With an estimated 5000 workers on strike in Trinidad's oil fields, the latest disorder occurred last night at San Fernando, where deputized volunteers fired into a group of strikers attacking the town's telephone exchange.

One fell dead and eight others were wounded, raising the three-day total to six dead and at least 34 wounded.

80 Scouts Leave For Camp Rokili

More than 80 Orange County Boy Scouts left yesterday afternoon for a week at Camp Rokili. The boys will be under the supervision of Harrison White, Orange County Boy Scout executive. They will return June 28.

Members of the camp staff who will have charge of the kitchen, commissary, and other departments include: Jack McDavid, Yonah Lindner, Ed Elliott, Huntington Beach; Bud McConnell, Placentia; Jack Berry, La Habra; Robert Lambert, Huntington Beach; Dick Wright, Santa Ana; and William Carrithers, Santa Ana.

it. Certainly we do need water in this county, and without it all our interests will be behind."

H. A. Johnson of Laguna Beach is another who hasn't said "yes" or "no" to himself yet. "But if I find that it's going to help the county," he said, "I'm certainly going to be for it."

The chance to get such a big percentage of help from the government is likely to make up U. L. Barge's as-yet-undetermined mind. "Right now I sort of think I'll be for it," he said.

When Jim Jedlika of 825 South Main street was approached on the question, he quite frankly confessed he didn't know how he was going to vote. But with perhaps a little too much prodding from the questioner, he said: "Yes, probably I will vote yes. The future of the county seems to depend a great deal on it."

A Man From Idaho

C. S. Peck, 324 South Ross, hails from the dry regions of southern Idaho. "That's why I'm going to vote yes," he said. "Because I've lived in an irrigated region and I know the value of water."

George E. Bradley, Santa Ana attorney, was rather hesitant about making a decision, but finally admitted he favored the bond issue. "It is a very momentous decision for the county to make," he said. "If this attempt to get water fails, it looks as if we might have to do without."

Westover's Stand

Harry C. Westover, attorney and state senator, immediately said "yes" for it.

"The one thing Orange county is interested in most is water. And when we have the chance to get such a good percentage of help from the federal government we ought to take advantage of it," he added.

These, let it be remembered, were the ones who made up their minds. A good round dozen who wouldn't be quoted because "they hadn't made up their minds," can't be ignored.

SENATE OKEHS LIST SIX MORE TAX DODGERS

Includes Extension of Two Years for PWA in Measure

WASHINGTON. (AP)—The senate approved the administration's $1,500,000,000 relief bill today, winding up six days of halted controversy.

The bill goes back to the house for action on numerous senate amendments.

As approved by the senate the measure provides a two-year extension of the Public Works administration. A last-minute amendment submitted by Senator Thomas (D., Okla.) increased by $400,000,000 to $340,000,000 the limit on authority of the PWA to use its revolving funds for grants and loans for additional construction projects.

A few minutes before with shouts of "noes" a majority defeated an amendment to cut the $1,500,000,000 relief bill to $1,000,000,000. The proposal was made by Senator Bridges (R., N. H.).

SOVIET FLIERS SEE BAY CITY

SAN FRANCISCO. (AP)—The man who piloted Soviet Russia's transpolar plane the 5300 miles from Moscow to Vancouver, Wash., says such flight will be regular occurrences "in one or two years—maybe three."

"Return flight would be easier because we would have tail winds," said Pilot Valerio Chkaloff.

Chkaloff and his two companions, welcomed by 5000 persons who thronged Oakland airport last evening, said they next wanted to try Moscow-New York flight via the Polar regions.

Today they looked forward to viewing the country in which they landed Sunday after an epic, 63-hour flight from the Soviet capital.

They expressed particular desire for an introduction to American industrial technique and to visit San Francisco, Chicago and New York.

Jury Picked to Try Cult Leader

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—A jury was completed speedily in federal court today to try Mann Hunt, charged against John Wuest Hunt, 33, wealthy follower of Father Divine, Harlem, N. Y., negro cult master, and three co-defendants.

Hunt is accused of bringing young Delight Jewett to Southern California from Denver in connection with cult practices and betrayed her.

Mexican border, and all of Arizona.

Active in Community

Civically, Dr. Warner has been particularly active. He was secretary of the old Citizens Unemployment committee, and has been vice-chairman of the county SRA board which, as successor to the unemployment committee, set up the work relief program for Orange county. He also served two years as president of the high school Parent-Teachers Association, a year as president of the Willard Junior High school P. T. A., was a former member of the local Red Cross board, was active in Masonic circles, and as chairman of the social service committee of the local ministerial union he has led a vigorous war on gambling in Santa Ana.

Known as an aggressive and practical speaker, Dr. Warner is a liberal both in theology and in social attitudes. He preached his last sermon here at the high school baccalaureate service June 13.

He plans to move to Riverside Saturday with his family, which includes Mrs. Warner and six children, George, pastor of Calvary church, Los Angeles; Charles, Los Angeles; Florence, Craig, Jean and Thomas.

During the past year a total amount of $58,446 was expended for capital outlay. Major items covered by these expenditures included $25,000 for new construction and improvements in the water system, $11,000 for purchase of property, $14,000 for motor equipment, $1800 for office equipment and $6600 in miscellaneous outlay. The total amount in furnishing material and equipment on various relief projects was $18,524.

Urges Planning Ahead

Banks pointed out that capital expenditures which are ordinarily provided for through bond issues, can be made from operating funds if a proper program is carried out, rather than having to vote bond issues for capital outlay. He called attention to the advantages of planning ahead and providing annually for operating expenditures the amounts necessary to carry on such a program rather than to have bond elections, thereby saving the additional interest which would have to be paid if bonds were voted for such purposes.

"By this method," Banks said, "the per capita cost of Santa Ana has been kept far below the national average of all cities of our class in the United States."

Scientists have been familiar with electrical phenomena since the time of Thales, about 600 B. C.

New Yorkers Take Out Foreign Insurance to Avoid Payment

WA. (AP)—A senate-house inquiry committee received testimony today that six New Yorkers bought big insurance policies in a Bahamas company in an effort to reduce income tax payments between 1932 and 1936.

Mason B. Leming, a treasury attorney, testifying at the congressional investigation into tax evasion and avoidance, explained what he termed "the device of foreign insurance companies" for escaping tax payments.

By this method, he said, taxpayers paid single premiums for large policies, then borrowed on the policies and took interest reductions on the loans.

The six New Yorkers were listed by Leming as follows:

Richard E. Dwight, attorney, with a $4,000,000 policy.

Winfield Ayers, a doctor, $400,000 policy.

Henry W. Lowe, insurance broker, $2,500,000 policy.

Lawrence Mark, cotton broker, one $2,500,000 policy in 1934, and another $2,500,000 policy in 1936.

Jacob W. Schwab, cotton broker, one $1,500,000 and one $1,000,000 policy.

George Thoms, attorney, $875,000 policy.

FLUOR PRAISES FAST AIR TRIP

J. S. Fluor, had of the Fluor Construction company, was praising air transportation today following his return from an extensive business trip to Houston, Texas, Kansas City and other points.

Fluor left Chicago at 8:30 p. m. Friday, flew to Salt Lake City, Utah, where he took a Douglas sleeper, and arrived at Burbank at 9 a. m. Saturday.

On May 5 he left Santa Ana and flew to Houston, where the company has a big construction job under way. He stopped at Kansas City, where the company maintains a large office, and then went to Oshkosh, Wis., where he spent five weeks. Oshkosh is the former home of the Fluor family. Fluor made the trip from Kansas City to Oshkosh by air with his son, P. E. Fluor, a brother of Mrs. Harvey Gardner of Santa Ana.

Notice where "Wally's" name has been dropped from the summer social register. Well, social registers change frequently. They are like Flannigan's handkerchief. Off the register one season, on again another.

Father's day and its observance is credited to Mrs. John B. Dodd, of Spokane, Washington, who felt like "Dad" wasn't getting a fair break. The homage paid mother every year aroused a sympathetic feeling toward the man who signs his name to the checks, and she busied herself in interesting other women until we now have a Father's Day, when churches, lodges and families shower him with flowers and kisses and neckties. After all Dad isn't such a bad fellow to have around. With what unreserved faith we look to him during childhood, and pride in the days of our boyhood. Then when we grow older we become more meditative of "Dad's" leadership, less demonstrative, but with in we hold that quiet respect and veneration. Fathers are the buffers of life, and Mothers the home of refuge. A father will wear his anxiety for his children in his heart without visible expression, while mother will express her concern with outstretched arms and moistened eyes. I'm in favor of Father's Day if it doesn't do any more than make a better father out of father.

Indebtedness Reduced

An interesting phase of the report was that the bonded indebtedness was reduced $201,901 during the year, which leaves $1,420,348 outstanding and the total amount in default is less than $150,000 as compared with $190,000 at this time a year ago. By maintaining this program for the next three years, the city should wipe out this entire indebtedness, Banks declared.

During the past year a total amount of $58,446 was expended for capital outlay. Major items covered by these expenditures included $25,000 for new construction and improvements in the water system, $11,000 for purchase of property, $14,000 for motor equipment, $1800 for office equipment and $6600 in miscellaneous outlay. The total amount in furnishing material and equipment on various relief projects was $18,524.

Urges Planning Ahead

Banks pointed out that capital expenditures which are ordinarily provided for through bond issues, can be made from operating funds if a proper program is carried out, rather than having to vote bond issues for capital outlay. He called attention to the advantages of planning ahead and providing annually for operating expenditures the amounts necessary to carry on such a program rather than to have bond elections, thereby saving the additional interest which would have to be paid if bonds were voted for such purposes.

"By this method," Banks said, "the per capita cost of Santa Ana has been kept far below the national average of all cities of our class in the United States."

Pickets Sent Home

In Warren, 14 miles from Youngstown, pickets threw down their clubs and sent home a but a few of their number after Sheriff Roy Hardman told them the guardsmen were coming. In front of Republic Steel's plant they kept the number of pickets allowed by the court order yesterday which enjoined their activities.

Reopening of the four Youngstown mills, employing about 20,000 men, had been set for 7 a. m. Exactly 15 minutes before that time the first contingent of national guardsmen rolled up to the Campbell plant of Youngstown Sheet & Tube Co.

Coronation Crowds Behaved Even Back in Victoria's Day

Just 40 years ago today Mr. and Mrs. Edward M. Nealley sat on a row of wooden bleachers in London and saw the same kind of crowd that American observers reported attended the coronation of King George VI last month.

Before them was the greatest show of the 19th century, the Diamond Jubilee of Queen Victoria, celebrating 60 years of rule over Britain's empire. Before the spectators last month was the biggest circus of the 20th century, King George's coronation.

Nealley, instructor in philosophy and psychology at Santa Ana Junior college, was naturally interested in mob psychology, but he found a type of it in England that America has never known.

No Hot Dogs

He admitted that the event was a "tremendous thing," that the merchants of London, but that no attempt was made to commercialize it.

"That is one thing you don't find in America," he pointed out.

"The spirit was one of reverence for the queen. It was almost a religious occasion. It represented the unity of the English people and their reverence for the crown. It represented English national spirit."

American observers at the coronation reported the same thing that Nealley saw 40 years ago.

Nealley says: "There was nothing like the rowdy element in the English crowds that they were very orderly. There was no hilarity, drunkenness or mob action. The whole thing was very dignified and I admire the English people for the way they respect law and order."

Quick to Obey

Newspaper reports of the coronation said that the English crowds did not push or jostle. Instead they stood silently for hours to a couple of feet of sidewalk. Bobbies did not push either. They just gave an order, and it was obeyed. This reverence for law and order was one of the things Nealley noticed 40 years ago.

When the king and queen and other royal persons rode by last month, according to newspaper reports, $10-a-week clerk and his labors out-cheered $100 box holders every time.

"Forty years of peace, war, depression, and hardship have not shaken the faith of the English people in their king," Nealley said, "but whether the faith will stay for another 40 is a thing we cannot settle today."

Lindys Name New Son Land Morrow

LONDON. (AP)—The registration of the birth of Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh's infant son disclosed today he had been named Land Morrow Lindbergh.

(Lindbergh's mother's maiden name was Evangeline Lodge Land. Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh was Anne Morrow. The Lindberghs' second son, Jon, now 4 years old, was named after one of Col. Lindbergh's ancestors. Their first son, Charles A. Lindbergh, Jr., was kidnapped and killed.)

companies to another meeting tomorrow.

With the seven-state walkout in "status quo" through the intervention of the President and the Ohio national guard, Chairman Charles P. Taft of the mediation board expressed optimism as to the board's chances of bringing a settlement.

Taft said the steel executives, before they left their first meeting with the national guard, had told him of their willingness to come back at the board's request. A spokesman for the steel men had said previously they had no intention of returning voluntarily.

Fix Dates for Two U. S. Golf Events

NEW YORK. (AP)—The 1935 Open championship of the United States Golf association will be played at the Cherry Hills club, Englewood, Colo., near Denver, the U. S. G. A. announced today. The dates will be either June 2, 3 and 4 or June 9, 10 and 11, depending on the dates for the 1935 British Open championship, which have not yet been announced. The 1934 amateur championship will be played at the Oakmont Country club, near Pittsburgh.

CITY TO HIRE CONTACT MAN FOR SOUTH BROADWAY EXTENSION

RIGHT-OF-WAY COST TO BE SECURED

New Artery Expected To Speed Traffic Through City

Santa Ana's city council appears to be serious about this business of cutting South Broadway through to connect with South Main at Delhi road.

Last night members of the council voted to employ a contact man who will start work contacting property owners regarding rights-of-way and to arrive at a cost of the proposed improvement.

204 Signers
A motion was adopted by the council, authorizing City Engineer J. L. McBride to employ the contact man. It was said that the city engineer's office is too busy to do this work.

Petitions bearing 204 signatures were presented to the city council last month, asking the council to launch the project as soon as possible. It was stated by the petitioners that the program proposed would facilitate moving of traffic through Santa Ana and would make the local business district more accessible to coastal cities.

Ask Prompt Action
They requested that the city acquire southern portions of Broadway not open as yet for street purposes, and that Broadway be connected with South Main at Delhi road, that all unimproved parts be improved, and the acquisition of rights-of-way and improvements be completed as soon as possible.

Maps shown with the petitions revealed that it would be necessary to open several more blocks on South Broadway, before swinging the street to the southeast to connect with South Main at Delhi road.

City Council Notes

The city council last night received and filed minutes of the last three meetings of the traffic safety commission.

Referred a request of Charles P. Mosher to conduct a trailer selling business in front of his residence at 2005 South Main street to the planning commission.

Granted permission to W. B. Smith, Henry L. Hinton, Robert K. Gibson, Chester D. Carlisle and Paul Hill to transfer their taxi driver's permits to the Blue Cab company.

Referred to the police commissioner and chief of police a request from Jesus Castillo a request to operate a pool hall at 1027 East Fourth street.

Gave second and final reading to an ordinance which amends sections of the city traffic ordinance, designed to clarify sections of the law dealing with pedestrian crossings and signal lights.

Granted permission to hang electric signs to Bartelston and Wilson, 212 South Main; R. Reno, 715 North Main; Bee's Beauty Box, 306 West Fifth street; Sayer's Lingerie, 210 West Fourth, and S. J. Gish cafe, 518 East Fourth street.

Officers Are Entertained

Officers of the Women's Relief corps were entertained at a social party last Friday afternoon by Mrs. Hattie Cozad, 636 French street. She was assisted in serving a refreshment course by her daughter, Miss Eleanor Cozad.

Guests present were the Mesdames Estelle Grey, Cora Adams, Elizabeth Birkhead, Anna Scott, Lena Hewitt, Lulu Hall, Retta Campbell, Media Brayton, Geraldine Beall, Della Miller, Gertrude Butler and Ida Miller.

Democrats to Hear Fight, Then Map Harmony Plans

Democrats of Orange county first will listen to a battle royal, and then map plans for party harmony at a mass meeting tonight sponsored by the Orange county unit of the California Assembly of Democrats.

So that those who attend the meeting at the Willard Junior High school auditorium will not miss the Louis-Braddock championship fight, it will be broadcast at the hall.

Featured speaker at the meeting, open to the public without charge, will be J. Ray Files, prominent Los Angeles attorney, who will discuss the subject, "California's Need for a Democratic Government." Other prominent Democrats who will be present include George White, San Diego-Orange county district director of the Works Progress administration.

Joseph Peterson, chairman of the entertainment committee, will present a musical program featuring John Stout, youthful Orange violinist, and Stanley Kurtz, El Modena vocalist.

Chester I. Dale, general chairman of the Orange county unit of the Assembly of Democrats, urged all residents of the county interested in governmental affairs to attend the meeting tonight.

Plan Farm Map Of Orange County

Work on a comprehensive plan of ground mapping for Orange county will start here soon. This was the information given out today by W. M. Cory, assistant farm advisor.

A map of each farm will be made showing the number of acres in soil conserving, soil depleting and neutral crops. Work will get under way as soon as detailed instructions are received from Washington, Cory indicated.

Charged with striking a 14-year-old girl with a rifle, Cruz Herrera, 1914 West Second street, was arrested early this morning by Santa Ana police and placed in the county jail.

Mrs. Josephine Ojeda, mother of the injured girl, today filed an insanity charge against Herrera. Mrs. Ojeda is the sister of the arrested man.

Josephine Ojeda, the girl struck by Herrera, sustained a serious scalp wound as a result of the blow.

John Smith, 45, 5810 West Culver street, Orange, was in the county jail today on a charge of drunken driving. Orange police made the arrest.

Milton Mitchell, Santa Ana, appearing in court for the tenth time in two years, today was sentenced to a six-month term in the county jail by Judge Kenneth Morrison after he had pleaded guilty to a charge of vagrancy.

The Orange County citrus workers' union has decided to take in as members all persons working in citrus, whether inside or outside packing houses, it was announced today by Alfred Boolean, president.

Boolean said the new union had found that because of the seasonal nature of citrus work it was necessary to cover a broader field than only packing house workers in order to be effective.

As a result, irrigators, fumigators, pickers and similar workers in citrus will be eligible to membership, he said. The decision was made last Friday at a meeting at which 21 new members were obligated.

He invited workers to attend the next meeting of the union next Friday at 8 p. m. in the Labor temple here.

Boolean is to represent the Orange county union early next month at a conference in Denver at which it is planned to form an international federation of A. F. of L. agricultural unions and to coordinate labor affairs in the various branches of agriculture.

The new international is to be known as the Cannery and Agricultural Workers' federation. Boolean said. It will ask A. F. of L. to provide trained organizers.

Townsend News, Views

By
WALTER R. ROBB

George D. Higgins, fiery orator from Los Angeles who set the Anaheim mass meeting on fire with enthusiasm Sunday afternoon, is the speaker before the meeting. The meeting will be held in the Townsend club building at 210 South Clementine street. The public is invited.

Santa Ana Club No. 8 is meeting this evening in the Lincoln school on French street with J. H. Nicholson in the president's chair. Nicholson reports his club sticking with Dr. Townsend. He also reports last week's meeting being a very enjoyable affair with more than 40 folks out to enjoy the social when lunch and coffee were served. He urges the membership to be present this evening.

Santa Ana Club No. 5 is meeting in the Richland Avenue Methodist church at 7:30 this evening with W. A. Zimmerman in the chair. Former president J. A. Yenger has been selected as delegate to the 19th district convention being held at 1 p. m. next Saturday in Riverside. A number from this club were in attendance at the mass meeting held in Costa Mesa Saturday evening.

The Huntington Beach club now meets on each Tuesday night with Robert Hosmer, president, as the presiding officer. The writer doesn't know particulars concerning tonight's meeting, but does know that every Townsendite in Huntington Beach ought to be present at the meeting being held in Memorial hall this evening.

A. M. Mapes, fiery president of Santa Ana Club No. 6, says his club will meet at 7:30 this evening in the community building of the First Christian church at West Sixth street and Broadway. Mapes, the writer is sorry to report, still continues to be afflicted with a very painful eye ailment, being confined to her bed a considerable portion of the time. This club always has interesting meetings. Better get out tonight and observe this fact for yourself.

It is reported that the Rev. Rex Barr, who addressed Orange Club No. 2 last Friday evening, sure went to town in his speech in admonishing the Townsendites to stick to Dr. Townsend and his organization. Considerable criticism, as it is reported, was directed toward the general welfare steering committee for its attitude in asking the Townsend clubs to desert the leadership of Dr. Townsend. Representative Sheppard also came in for a share of criticism because of his letter addressed to the Townsend clubs of the district conveying the attitude of the steering committee and apparently concurring in their resolution to the clubs.

Santa Ana Townsend Club No. 12 also meets at 7:30 this evening in the Santa Ana Gardens community building located on the Diamond school grounds. President J. I. Barber will preside. A number from this club attended the Costa Mesa mass meeting Saturday evening.

All the Townsend ladies should remember that the ladies Townsend auxiliary meets again next Thursday at 1 p. m. in the Santa Ana Townsend hall at 509 West Fourth street, when further planning will occur in their work. Last week the ladies indulged in a potluck dinner in the hall. In the neighborhood of 40 ladies were present to enjoy the fellowship dinner and plan for the benefit of the Townsend work in the county.

A letter to the writer from Mrs. Rachel M. Gatzlaff of the Tustin club says: "At the meeting of the Tustin club on June 14th, President John Sauers was elected as a delegate to the next national convention and Mrs. Mae Borum as alternate." The letter says also that "Mrs. Borum left last week for an extended visit in Iowa at her former home and with friends in other states in the East and Middle-west." At this meeting Mr. Thomas was elected as delegate to the Riverside congressional convention to be held next Saturday afternoon.

This club on June 17th at 5:30 p. m. served a turkey dinner at the home of Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Beswick at the corner of Main and B streets. The dinner was well attended. During the evening 132 persons patronized the dinner, which number included 16 from Laguna Beach. In the number were John L. White and wife. White is a member of the 19th district board.

These are pretty serious times for the Townsendites but not so serious but what the writer believes all the grandpa and grandma Townsendites and perhaps some of the others as well will enjoy the following description of a new nephew of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Bachman of 550 North Bavia street, Orange, which has recently arrived in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ross Bachman who reside in Mounalva Molakai, T. H. The letter follows: "Announcing May 11th, 1937 release of 1937 Baby Model—Ronald Elden. Special features—weight 7 lbs., 13 ounces, 2 lung power, free breathing, shoulder type gas exhaust, changeable seat covers, non-force feed, ask any man who owns one."

INDICTING OF LOBBYIST TO BE SOUGHT

Babcock to Ask Charge Against Sacramento Assembly Aide

SACRAMENTO. (AP)—District Attorney Otis D. Babcock returned to his office yesterday and began preparations to go before the grand jury Thursday with evidence on which, he said, he will ask the indictment of Raymond Kahl, assistant assembly sergeant at arms. Babcock is proceeding, he said, on information given by Mrs. Albert Sherman Hoyt, wealthy Pasadena resident, that she paid $300 for lobbying activities in opposition to the Arroyo Seco highway routing bill.

Mrs. Hoyt, S. G. Parshall, former city councilman of South Pasadena, and Lorraine Shinn, a public stenographer at a Sacramento hotel, are under subpoena to appear before the jury.

The district attorney said the trial of Assemblyman Gene Flint, Los Angeles, on a charge of offering a bribe to a brother assemblyman probably will be continued, when it is called June 29.

NAVY BUILDING PLANS OKED

WASHINGTON. (AP)—The house naval committee yesterday approved a $50,000,000 auxiliary ship construction program designed to bring the navy to its highest point of efficiency in years. At the same time, the legislators heard Rear Admiral Arthur B. Cook, chief of the navy's bureau of aeronautics, outline plans for building up the naval air service. Cook disclosed the navy was studying extension of existing naval air stations and planned some "exploratory" work in Alaska this summer from a base at Sitka. He linked this work with possible establishment of an aviation base in the Aleutian Islands.

The auxiliary construction program, already approved in slightly different form by the senate, would authorize the building of six vessels, including three tenders for seaplanes, submarines and destroyers, an oiler, a fleet tug and a mine sweeper.

Navy experts estimated the six ships would cost $48,206,050 and require three years to build. The committee decided to limit the cost to $50,000,000. The committee also wrote into the bill a provision to permit the secretary of the navy to award contracts for at least some of the proposed vessels to Pacific coast bidders even if their bids were 6 per cent above the lowest eastern bids.

As recommended to the house, the bill contained a requirement that half of the ships be built in navy yards and the rest in private shipyards.

GRANT PERMIT FOR MARKET

Rescinding former action on the matter, the city council last night granted permission to J. A. Milbrat to construct a drive-in market at the corner of Shelton and First streets.

The action was taken following many months of delay on the matter, and was protested by a group of petitioners who objected to the establishment of a business in the residential neighborhood. At the last meeting of the council the planning commission returned the application to the council with the word that the planners were evenly divided on the proposal, and could not reach a decision one way or the other.

The city council's action, which was rescinded, was to refer the matter back to the planning commission for further investigation, despite the fact the planners were evenly divided on the proposal. After parliamentary maneuvers to get the matter back before the council, members of the council voted to grant the request, on motion of Councilman William Penn. The city attorney was instructed to prepare an amendment to the building code ordinance designating the property as neighborhood business property.

Security Bill Is Approved

WASHINGTON. (AP)—The security commission sent to congress yesterday an endorsement of the Lea bill to regulate committees representing owners of securities in financially embarrassed corporations.

Commissioner William O. Douglas, who directed the study of such protective and reorganization committees which began in 1934, said the 605 page report "can be summarized in one sentence."

Rail Pension Act Passes House

WASHINGTON. (AP)—The house yesterday passed without opposition the Wagner-Crosser bill to establish a government-supervised pension system for the nation's railroad workers. It now goes to the senate.

Wing Spread of Big Soviet Airplane Is 110 Feet

VANCOUVER, Wash. (AP)—Airplane wings as vast as the flag of Soviet Russia glided on the green turf of Pearson field today. The great wings of the mighty Soviet plane which carried three men nearly 5300 miles from Moscow in about 63 hours are no strangers to storm and barren ice wastes.

The plane, said Pilot Valeri Chkaloff through an interpreter, traveled 4700 miles last year on a non-stop flight from Moscow over Petropavlovsk and Kamchatka and deep into Siberia. The metal-framed, fabric-covered wings, unusually widespread for the length of the fuselage, extend 110 feet. Flaps acted as "air brakes" at the landing. The wheels have no brakes and the skid wheel does not turn.

The pilot said the motor developed 750 horsepower, but Eugene E. Spencer, a civilian mechanic, said it would require a 1500-horsepower motor, by American definition, to turn the three-bladed propeller. The metal-covered fuselage, black over the motor and silver along the body, is 45 feet long. The wings had no de-icer, but small tubes from the propeller shaft sprayed alcohol on the blades.

The forward and aft cockpits contained dual control equipment. The center cockpit contained navigation equipment, including a two-way radio. Portland and Seattle aviators said the plane resembled a German junker. It is a comparatively slow flying craft, with a cruising speed of about 100 miles per hour. It can land at 30 miles an hour.

Personality Dependent On Feet, Doctor Believes

PASADENA. (AP)—The technique of bestowing a pleasing personality upon a glum patient by treating his ailing feet was described yesterday at the annual convention of the California Osteopathic association. "You are all familiar with the tired-looking, worn-out patient, whose face seldom manages a smile," Dr. Bruce E. Collins of Santa Monica, Cal., specialist said. "Do they appeal to you as reflecting a pleasing personality? I am sure they do not. If their appearance is due to disorders of the feet alone, it follows that correction of foot defects will correct the facial expression."

ASKS BALM FOR STUBBED TOE APPROVE DATE FOR CHEST

The city of Santa Ana had a damage case on its hands today, all apparently, because of a hole in a sidewalk and a stubbed toe.

Through his attorney, Morris Cain, Earl C. Hall, blacksmith, carpenter and housecleaner, filed a demand with the city treasurer through the city council last night.

Hall asked the city to pay him $3484 damages for personal injuries suffered when he fell on March 16. Hall said when he was in front of 1026 West Fourth street, his right toe caught in a broken spot and hole in the sidewalk.

He said he was thrown to the walk, wrenching his right hip and back. He said he has not been able to work since the accident, and that his injuries may result in permanent partial disability. He claimed that employees of the city were negligent in not keeping the sidewalk in better repair.

Last night the city council referred the matter to the city attorney and street superintendent.

L. A. Cleaners Open Branch Office

The A 1 Cleaners and Dyers today announced opening of a new branch office located at 901 South Main street.

The new office was installed to make it easier for persons living in the south part of the city to trade with this concern. The main office will continue at 423 1/2 West Fourth street.

ATTORNEY DISBARRED SAN FRANCISCO. (AP)—Acting Chief Justice Emmet Seawall of the California supreme court yesterday signed an order disbaring Donald A. Rothrock, Los Angeles attorney, who is under conviction of attempted murder and assault with a deadly weapon. The supreme court last week denied Rothrock's appeal from the conviction, which followed an altercation in a Los Angeles restaurant and the shooting of a waitress and patron by the lawyer.

NEW TREASON TRIALS DUE IN RUSSIA

MOSCOW. (AP)—Important new treason trials were indicated to be in store for the Soviet Union today as another high party official joined the list of those apparently imprisoned in the sweeping purification of party ranks.

Josef Stanislovovich Umschlicht, acting secretary of the Union executive committee, whose position was equivalent to the speaker of the United States house of representatives, disappeared June 16.

Similar disappearances in recent months have preceded the placing of the treason charges against numerous Russian leaders. But there was not hint of what accusation might be made against the secretary.

Umschlicht was a member of the powerful central committee of the Communist party and stood close to the top of governmental structure as secretary of the committee of the presidency.

Advertising In U. S. Newspapers Shows Increase

CHICAGO. (AP)—Advertising Age reports a 6 per cent increase in the volume of advertising placed in newspapers during the week ending June 12 over the same period of 1936.

The record showed a gain of 1,256,443 lines for the week over the same week last year. For the year to date, newspapers are advertising 479,460,782 lines in comparison with 451,609,084 lines for 1936.

Indict Kentucky Mine Executive

WASHINGTON. (AP)—A District of Columbia grand jury late yesterday returned an indictment against Ted Creech, 35, mine superintendent of Harlan county, Kentucky, charging him with perjury last April 16 before the senate civil liberties committee. The grand jury accused Creech of knowing he was making false statements to senate investigators who were inquiring into "anti-union terrorism" in the Kentucky coal fields.

LONDON. (AP)—An anonymous donor has given $1,250,000 to the empire as a tribute to the way Stanley Baldwin handled the abdication crisis, it was disclosed in commons lobbies yesterday.

The donor said he wanted to make a "thanks offering" for the former prime minister's "courageous, far-seeing and sympathetic handling of a supremely difficult situation, which averted incalculable dangers for the empire."

The money was placed at the disposal of the premier's office for the purpose of "endowing any object best calculated to strengthen

HUGHES SEES PROBLEM OF FUTURE

PROVIDENCE, R. I. (AP)—Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes yesterday asserted the question facing society "is not longer one of establishing democratic institutions but of preserving them."

In an address before the annual alumni meeting of Brown university, the chief justice of the United States, an alumnus of the class of 1881, asserted: "The economic dislocations following the great war have produced conditions, national and international, which vex the imagination and confuse the judgment. We still proclaim the old ideals of liberty but we cannot voice them without anxiety in our hearts."

"The question is no longer one of triumphing over sectional discord and unifying the nation, but whether a united people putting forth its great strength for national ends, will leave appropriate scope for individual freedom."

"The question is not one of the adequate power of government, designed to keep clear the highways of honest endeavor, but how that power shall be used."

"Safe as we may still be in the present, what of the look ahead?" He asked.

"Are our democratic impulses growing weaker, and under the pressure of economic forces and insidious teachings of an alien philosophy, will our democracy be able to survive?"

$98,000 ROAD FUND GIVEN TO CITY

State Grants Gas Tax Apportionment, Okehs Plans

Santa Ana's improvement program on state highways and streets of major importance stood approved by the state highway department today.

The municipality will have $98,000 to spend on state highways in the city during the next two years, and $28,268.10 to spend on streets of major importance during the next fiscal year, totaling $98,250.16.

Last night the city council adopted a resolution authorizing Mayor Fred C. Rowland and City Clerk Ed Vegely to execute a contract with the state in regard to expenditures of the quarter-cent allocation from the gas tax on roads.

To Repave Broadway

The first and biggest street job to be tackled by the city is the repaving of North Broadway, at a total cost of $44,358.24. This program calls for repaving Broadway from the south line of First street to the south line of Tenth street. From First to Sixth new paving will be laid on top of existing pavement, but from Sixth to Tenth existing pavement will be torn up and new paving installed. A total of $12,587 in new money is set up for the Broadway job, which will be added to the $31,771.24 set up last year for the paving and improvement program.

Maintenance
The quarter-cent gas tax refund to the city is estimated at $51,140 for the 1937-39 biennium. This added to the unprogrammed balance from 1935-37 and other balances, makes a total of $69,982.06 for expenditures on state highways and major roads.

A total of $10,100 will be spent for maintenance of the state highways in the city, and $54,882 for new construction work. A contingency fund of $5000 also is set up.

The program also includes improvement work on many other local streets.

SEVEN RACE AT POUGHKEEPSIE

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y. (AP)—The fruits of months of back breaking practice will be harvested in less than three hours on the Hudson this afternoon when 15 crews representing seven colleges meet in the 35th annual Intercollegiate Rowing association regatta.

As time drew near for the start of the six-boat freshman brush, there was no change in the strong sentiment that the principal harvesting would be done by Washington. The Huskies set a record for the eight-oared competition a year ago by winning all three races.

There were many in the crowd of 75,000 who believed the Huskies could do it again. They installed Al Ulbricks, a westerner and a favorite over Navy, Syracuse, California, Cornell, Wisconsin and Columbia in the varsity race, a favorite over Navy and Cornell in the jaycee, and contenders with Syracuse, Navy, Cornell and California in the freshman event.

Ulbricks himself, under whose guidance Washington has won once, placed second twice and third four times in eight varsity starts, would not venture an opinion on his own chances.

"Navy must certainly be the crew to beat," ran Ulbricks' statement before the battle. "And that applies not merely to the varsity race, but the other two as well. The middle varsity are a great crew, they rolled up a fine record, they'll be gunning for everybody."

Columbia, a surprise fourth last year and back with the same boat, worked quietly and the longest—since May 29, Wisconsin, on the river after a long absence, was expected to go along mainly for the ride, although the Badgers' style has improved since they lost to California.

Starting times (P. S. T.) and lanes (reading from the west bank) in each race:

Freshman, two miles (12 noon): No. 1, Syracuse; No. 2, Columbia; No. 3, Washington; No. 4, Cornell; No. 5, California; No. 6, Navy.
Junior varsity, three miles (3 p. m.): No. 1, Washington; No. 2, Cornell; No. 3, Navy.
Varsity four miles (2 p. m.): No. 1, Navy; No. 2, Syracuse; No. 3, Washington; No. 4, Wisconsin; No. 5, Columbia; No. 6, California; No. 7, Cornell.

4-H Clubbers Leave for Camp

More than 80 4-H club members from Orange county left Olive this morning for a week's stay at Camp Bradford in the San Bernardino mountains.

The group was accompanied by Ross Crane, assistant farm advisor, and Frances Liles, home demonstration expert. They will stay until Sunday afternoon. Their program will consist of hikes, games, nature study, and contests. The group represents more than 20 4-H groups throughout the county.

COOKING MADE EASY—Biscuit making is only one of the many arts Girl Scouts learn in camp kitchens.

By LYDIA GRAY SHAW

AP Feature Service Writer

NEW YORK. — Homemaking needn't always be learned at home. Parents have found that there's more incentive for youngsters to plan and prepare a meal if they work with children their own age, than if they watch at home to see how mother does it.

Every summer thousands of children at Scout camps throughout the country go domestic.

It's fun, not drudgery, for these girls to get up meals on a limited budget. They vie with each other for the job of marketing. Write Own Ticket. Let their sweet tooth run away with them, there's a dietitian on hand who okays the proposed menu.

Even 10-year-olds have a part in ordering and preparing meals. And such routine as setting the table and washing dishes isn't a bugbear when taken in shifts.

Since the girls are managed under a flexible program which lets them largely write their own ticket, they can carry their domesticity as far as they like.

Homemaking seems to be the popular pursuit, with swimming second.

Seeks Winter Instruction
As a result of the flexible plan, says Miss Hazel K. Allen, head of the Girl Scout camping division, the campers are more relaxed, offer fewer disciplinary problems and achieve greater individual development.

She hopes that some day camping will be introduced into the schools as a winter activity. It's just as vital, she asserts, for a child to be able to cook on a pack trip as to be captain of the school basketball team.

$50,000 'IRON LUNG' TRIP AT END

CHICAGO. (AP)—Frederick B. Snite, Jr., former Notre Dame athlete, kept alive by an "iron lung" in which he has been encased for 450 days, completed the last lap today of one of the strangest journeys in the annals of science.

Stricken with infantile paralysis in China, the 26-year-old youth lay helpless in a steel cylinder respirator while a corps of doctors and nurses superintended his 12,000-mile journey home to Chicago.

During the journey from San Francisco precaution was taken to insure a steady supply of electricity for the respirator which lifts his chest and sucks air into the lungs 15 times a minute. Failure of the "iron lung" for a few minutes would mean death.

Preparations had been made at the hospital to continue the long treatment—the doctors say seven years is the minimum—to restore him to health.

Young Snite is the son of a millionaire. The unusual trip, which cost approximately $50,000, began June 2.

'Foghorn' Murphy Turns to Radio

LOS ANGELES. — John A. (Foghorn) Murphy and Harry Kronick, the latter a former baseball writer for an Oakland newspaper, announced today they have acquired radio rights for a radio station, XEBB, now under construction at Rosarito Beach, Lower California.

Murphy gained his nickname when he rode through the streets of San Francisco on an old white horse years ago, announcing batteries for the Coast League baseball games.

"Foghorn" himself will announce the Pacific Coast league batteries in a voice which will rumble across 11 states and on up into Alaska," boasted their statement. The station is expected to be in operation by Sept. 15.

20,000 Shriners Down to Business

DETROIT. (AP)—Shriners cocked red fezzes at a more decorous angle for the serious business of inaugurating their 63rd imperial council today.

A four-hour parade of 20,000 uniformed Nobles mobilized to escort the imperial potentate, Judge Clyde I. Webster of Detroit, and his aides to the council chamber.

The Shrine Recorders' Association elected officers yesterday. They are James F. Fould, Minneapolis, president; Robert Abernethy, Oakland, Calif., first vice president; J. Richard Hungerford, Watertown, N. Y., second vice president; Edwin C. Ziegler, Buffalo, N. Y., third vice president; and Albert Ellis, Wichita Falls, Tex., secretary-treasurer.

Police to Check Paroles Men Here

David Y. Bush, chairman of the state board of prison terms and paroles, has notified Chief of Police Floyd Howard that completed records on all paroled persons in Santa Ana would be supplied the police department and sheriff's office.

The action is being taken, Bush said, so that the peace officers may aid in seeing that parolees abide strictly by the requirements of their paroles.

Hope for an autumn meeting between members of the parole board and peace officers of the state to discuss the problems of parole was expressed by Bush.

Too Much Taxes Paid for Sills

WASHINGTON. — The board of tax appeals has determined the Security-First National Bank of Los Angeles, as executor of Milton Sills who died Sept. 16, 1930, made a $445 overpayment in estate taxes. The bureau of internal revenue had ruled the bank owed $600,796.

Brush Fire Razes Summit Depot

SAN BERNARDINO. (AP)—One hundred and seventy-five acres of brush was burned over here late yesterday as a result of a fire which started in and destroyed the Santa Fe railroad station at Summit, at the crest of Cajon Pass. One hundred Civilian Conservation Corps workers quelled the blaze.

LOUIS 5-2 CHOICE OVER BRADDOCK TONIGHT

SPORTS Copy-Wrighted

Our crystal ball, which has been doing right well in nightball, switches from the diamond to the squared circle tonight to predict that...

James J. Braddock will stop Mistah Joe Louis in the NINTH round of their fistic feud in Chicago tonight. Copy-wrighted can't forget the "Condemned Man" caption we wrote over Max Schmeling's picture the night of the German's fight with Louis June 19, last. Louis disappointed us that night, and he will again tonight—if he wins.

Kenneth Adams, The Journal's O. C. A. C. fight expert, is stringing with Louis in the 11th. Skinny Skirvin—Braddock in the sixth round. He's too good. Ray (Doc) Smith—Louis by a knockout in the sixth.

Walt Jordan—Braddock's too tough. He'll kayo Louis in the ninth. Braden Finch—Braddock in the 13th. George Cattle—Braddock will win because I'm betting on Louis. Tony Kneip—Braddock will score a knockout before the 15th round.

George Platt—Louis will score a quick knockout in the sixth. John Lutz—If they allow Louis to go out to win, he will knock out Braddock in the fifth.

HANS STEINKE CHALLENGED BY MR. X

Red-Robed Mystery Man Defeats Karl Shultz In 101 Club Debut

By PAUL WRIGHT Mysterious Mister X, robed from head to foot in striking red, stepped into the Orange County Athletic club ring, and after pinning Karl Shultz of Boston in 11 min. 12 secs. with a headlock, hurled a challenge at the winner of the Hans Steinke-Dr. Len Hall feature last night.

Which happened to be Steinke! The German Goliath reached deep into his bag of tricks, but even his most punishing and favorite hold—the boomerang—missed fire three times, and it was only through Steinke's amazing stamina that Dr. Hall was beaten over the one-hour time limit route.

The Nebraska chiropractor, who holds the European heavyweight crown, proved too stubborn in the first fall, carrying Steinke 42 min. 11 secs. before the German pinned him with a short arm leg scissors. The 18 minutes that remained were too short for either to get started again, and Steinke was declared the winner on the strength of his first-fall victory.

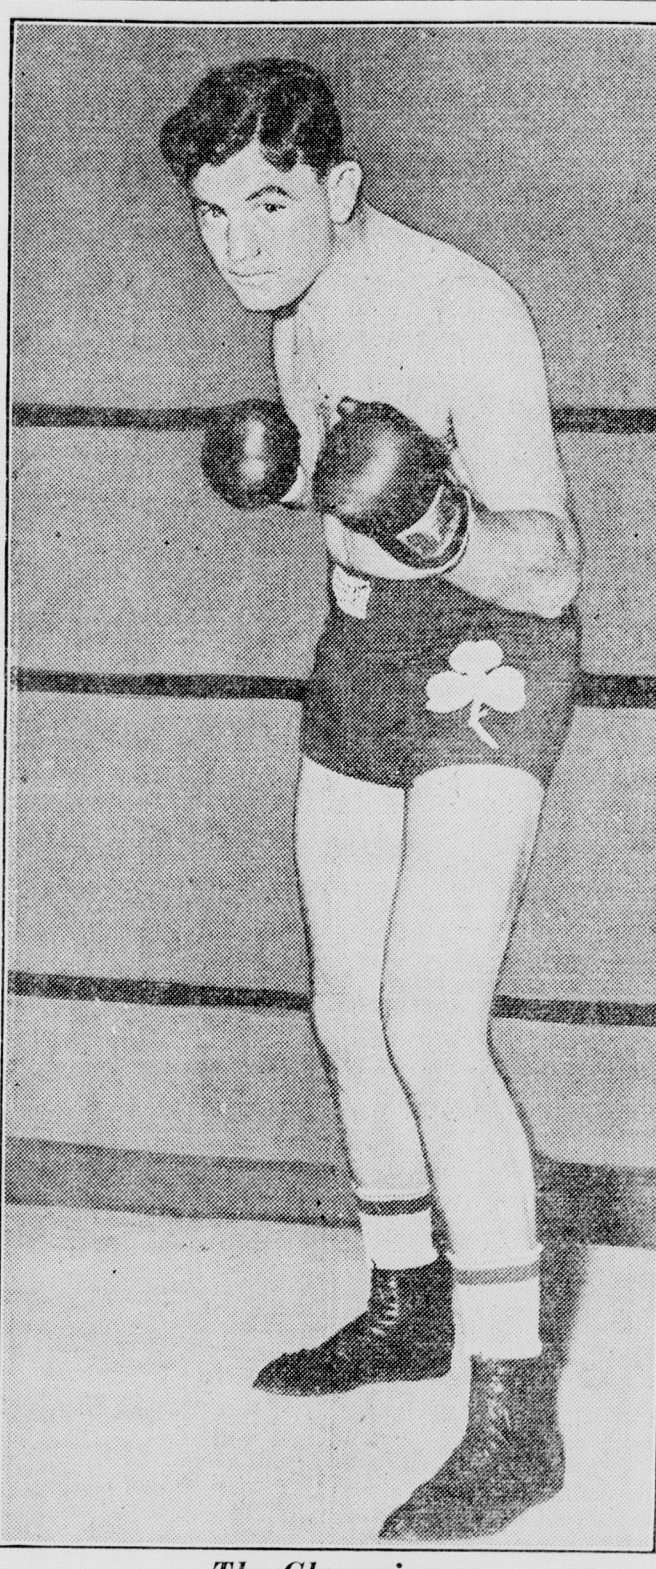

(The Lion Man) Numa, usually a rather clean wrestler, turned villain last night, gouging the eyes of George Wilson, the all-America griddler, with a small rubber gadget he concealed in his mouth when Referee Joe Varga investigated. With all his rough stuff, Numa evaded disqualification, and won with a body press and right-hand smashes in 27 min. 17 secs.

Al Baffert of Hollywood nearly ripped the trunks off Ad (Bomber) Herman in battling to a comical 20-minute draw, in which Baffert clamped on numerous leg-locks and pulled the hair on bare-footed Herman's manly chest.

The O. C. A. C. management offered a season's free pass to the fan identifying Scarlet Mister X, who was impressive in beating Shultz with a headlock in 11 min. 12 secs. The mysterious mat-ador will appear on the next program at the Highway 101 arena, Matchmaker Tite Clinton announced. ZSsmfyvetaoi

Tom Neal—I think Braddock is just as good a bike-peddler as Pastor, and a better hitter. He'll go the limit and decision Louis. Bill Gibbs—Louis by knockout before the 15th.

Ray Foster—Braddock in the tenth. Noel Berry—Louis will score quick knockout in sixth. Jimmy Adams—I drew Louis in the pool, but I'm not predicting it that way. Franklin Guthrie—Louis in the third.

The Champion

Quick Knockout Predicted Only Hope for Negro

(KFI and KECA will broadcast the Louis-Braddock fight over a national hook-up at 7 o'clock tonight. If rain threatens, the bout may go on anytime after 5:30).

By CHARLES DUNKLEY CHICAGO. (AP)—Joe Louis, sleepy-eyed son of an Alabama cotton picker, gets his greatest opportunity tonight. In a flood-lighted ring, pitched over second base at Comiskey park, home of the Chicago White Sox, Louis battles James J. Braddock, untested heavyweight champion of the world. Watching them will be a crowd that may go as high as 60,000, with gate receipts that may reach $750,000.

It will be the first time that a negro has had the opportunity of winning the world heavyweight championship since Jack Johnson in 1910 battled the shell of James J. Jefferies into helplessness in Reno. It also will be the first "mixed match" involving the title since Jess Willard defeated Johnson in Havana 22 years ago.

The fight will be held in the heart of Chicago's black belt with its 700,000 negroes. One thousand policemen will be on guard, 400 within the arena and 600 outside the park walls. Reserves will be held in readiness at nearby police stations.

For the first time, the heavyweight challenger goes into action favored to conquer the champion, Louis, on the strength of his dynamite-laden fists, is held 5 to 2 over Braddock. Despite his defeat by Max Schmeling, who knocked him out in 12 rounds and his unfavorable showing against Bob Pastor, who spotted him 20 pounds, Louis holds the interest through the knockout power in his fists.

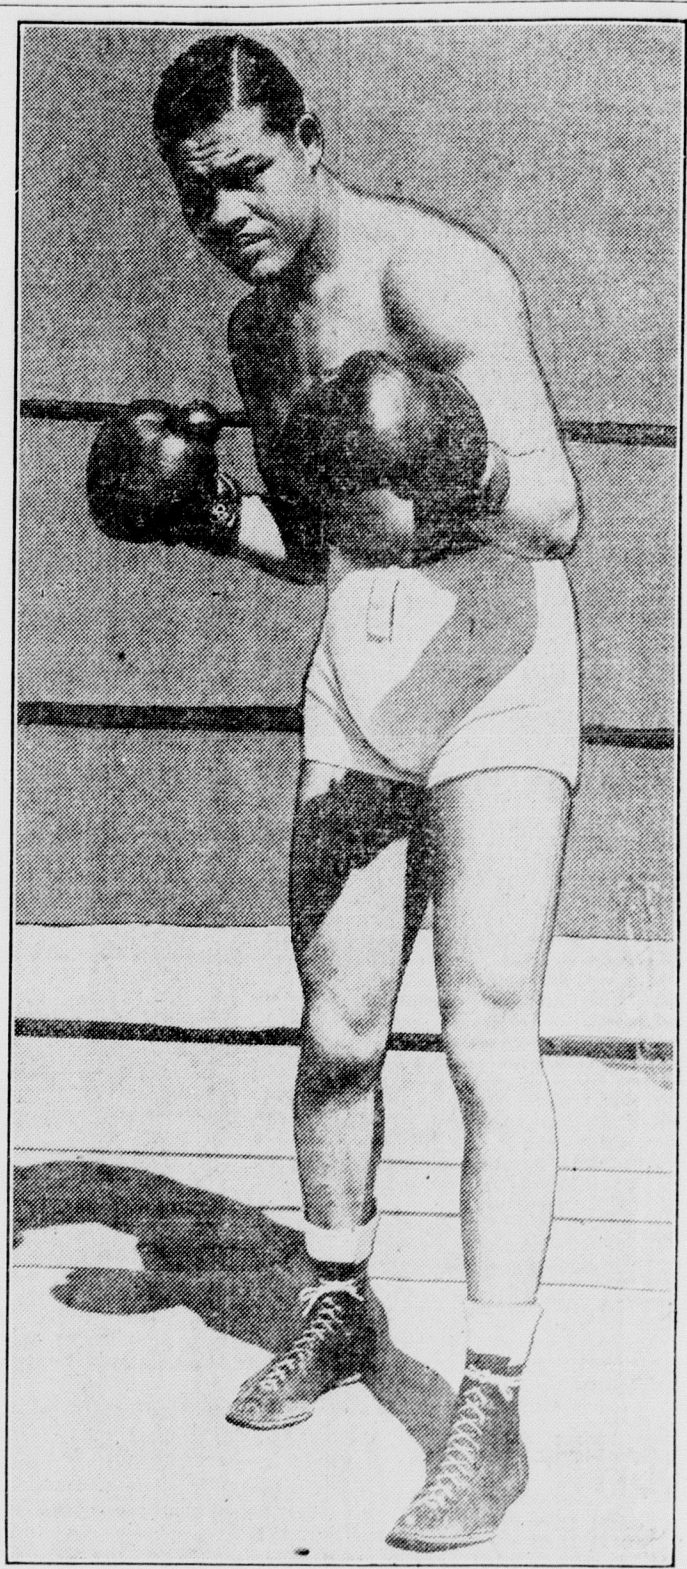

Starts Between 5 and 7 The fight is scheduled to go 15 rounds, or less. It may start any time between 5 and 7 p. m. Pacific standard time, depending on weather, forecast fair. If rain threatens, the fight can start any time after 5 o'clock, with the probable start between 6:30 and 7 p. m.

The champion and challenger, fighting on percentage, also will share in the $350,000 paid for the radio rights and $25,000 for motion picture contracts. Braddock will get 50 per cent of the total gate after taxes have been deducted, and Louis 17 1/2 per cent.

Both men were ready to weigh in at 10 a. m. (PST) today at the Auditorium theater, and then hide out to await time to go to the battle ground. They must be there at 5 p. m. Braddock figures to scale 197, with Louis about 199.

Braddock, idle since he defeated Max Baer for the championship in 1935, is strictly the "underdog." Experts said either Louis would win by a quick knockout or Braddock would take down the decision, with a few rating him chances for a knockout victory.

The titleholder is conceded to be a better boxer than Louis. He has a better left hand for jabbing and is rated a superior ring general. The chances are that he'll keep out of the way of Louis' famous right, just as he circled away from Baer's Sunday punch.

The Challenger

BRADDOCK SEES KNOCKOUT IN EIGHTH; LOUIS CONFIDENT

CHICAGO. (AP)—The pre-battle statements of Heavyweight Champion James J. Braddock, Challenger Joe Louis and their respective managers: Braddock: "I have never felt better in my life. My legs are good, my breathing apparatus all right, and I have no mental worries. I predict I will knock out Louis in eight rounds. I will knock him out sooner if he fights the way I expect he will. I'm going out there to hit him just as hard and as often as I can, from the first bell until he goes down."

Louis: "I'm going in there to win, and win as quickly as I can. I'm not predicting I will knock out Braddock in any particular round. I simply must win this one. I am good, my breathing apparatus all right, and I have no mental worries. I predict I will knock out Braddock in any particular round. I simply must win this one. I am good, my breathing apparatus all right, and I have no mental worries."

Joe Gould, Braddock's manager: "Jim is going into the ring the champion, and he'll come out champion. People who regard Louis as a killer are in for a surprise. Jim's in better shape than he ever has been before. He has a fighting chest, and knows how to handle any situation that might arise. When Jim reaches the Louis chin with a right hand it will be all over."

Julian Black and John Roxborough, Louis' co-pilots: "Joe is in the best condition he has enjoyed since before he fought Max Baer. He's really ready for this one, and will have no excuses to offer if he is beaten. But we do not entertain thoughts of Joe losing. How can one think of such things with a fellow who hits as hard as he does. I don't think there will be much to it. Louis will leave the ring champion. He'll knock out Braddock just as soon as the champion gives him an opening for a finishing blow."

HELEN JACOBS TRIUMPHS

WIMBLEDON, Eng. (AP)—Helen Jacobs, the defending champion from Berkeley, Cal., won her first test in the all-English tennis championships today, defeating Ermytrude Harvey, Great Britain, 6-2, 6-1, after drawing a first round bye today.

Although not sure of her ground strokes at the start when the English girl took a 2-1 lead, Miss Jacobs quickly settled down and showed no trace of her recent shoulder ailment. Her overhead game and backhand strokes down the lines especially were effective.

Mrs. Dorothy Andrus of Stanford, Conn., and New York, advanced to the second round when she defeated Miss E. N. S. Dickinson of Great Britain, 6-4, 6-3. Katherine Winthrop of Boston defeated Miss M. B. Hobson of England, 7-5, 6-4.

Sam Hanks Leading 'Big Five' of Los Angeles Midgets

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—The "Big Five" of Los Angeles midget automobile racing will compete tonight at the Atlantic boulevard stadium, four of them so close together in points that a change in leadership seems imminent.

The four roar away with these standings: Sam Hanks, 42,450; Karl Young, 41,500; Pat Cunningham, 40,925; Mel Hansen, 36,925. "Pee Wee" Distance, the other driver, trails.

Ritchie, Barney Ross, Mike and Tommy Gibbons and John Henry Lewis. A well-known visitor from New York was Jimmy Johnston, matchmaker for Madison Square Garden, in the role of just another spectator.

FAIR WEATHER GREET'S TITLE FIGHT CROWD OF 65,000

(By the Associated Press) CHICAGO. (AP)—Sunshine and an almost cloudless sky today bolstered the weatherman's promise of perfect weather conditions for tonight when James J. Braddock defends his world heavyweight championship against Challenger Joe Louis at Comiskey park, Chicago.

The temperature, rising, was 65 at 6 a. m. (EST time), and Chief Meteorologist Charles A. Donnel said there was little chance of rain, causing postponement of the title battle.

Principals — James J. Braddock, world heavyweight champion, and Joe Louis, challenger, at Comiskey park, Chicago. Time—Tonight, between 6:30 and 7 p. m. Pacific standard time, unless weather conditions prompt a change; preliminaries begin at 4:30; if a postponement is necessary the bout will be held Wednesday night.

Conditions—Fifteen rounds to a decision by a referee and two judges, with the "no foul" rule in force; referee to be named at moment principals enter ring. Weather forecast—Fair, moderate temperature, moderate northerly winds.

Estimated attendance and receipts—Sixty thousand to 65,000 and $750,000 and $800,000 at prices ranging from $3.50 to $27.50; seating capacity of park, 75,000. Fighters' shares: Braddock to receive 50 per cent of receipts; Louis 17 1/2 per cent, including radio and picture rights after deduction of taxes.

WETHERELL IS NET WINNER

Lewis Wetherell, Santa Ana's No. 1 tennis player and one of the leading candidates for team honors at the University of Southern California, survived the first round yesterday afternoon in the National Intercollegiate tennis tournament at Haverford, Pa.

Robert Hilton of Lehigh university was Wetherell's victim, 6-4, 6-1. He also put out two other rivals.

The Santa Ana youth is in the East, where he will defend his National Parks tennis crown which he won on the St. Louis courts last year. Along with Wetherell, who advanced to the second round of singles play, were several U. C. L. A. and California netters.

Braddock and Louis Typical Alger Heroes

CHICAGO. (AP)—Only a few years ago Heavyweight Champion Jim Braddock was on the federal relief rolls and Joe Louis was a $5 a day automobile factory hand in Detroit, but this evening they'll each draw fortunes for their title bout and its anticipated "million-dollar gate."

Two years ago Braddock, who has been guaranteed 50 per cent of receipts, got his big break by beating Max Baer for the title. Three years ago this month Louis borrowed $15 to go to Detroit for an amateur bout, and a month later fought his first professional fight for $50.

Since that time Louis has earned $750,607, probably a record, considering his brief career. His biggest stake was $240,833 for stopping Baer in 1935. His guarantee against Braddock is 17 1/2 per cent of the gate.

The University of Kansas senate has approved a four-year curriculum for prospective athletic coaches and physical education directors, either men or women.

RIGGS ANNEXES 'CLAY' TITLE

Bobby Riggs of Los Angeles went down in tennis record books today alongside that of Big Bill Tilden and Bryan Grant, the Atlanta atom.

Riggs won his second consecutive National Clay courts tennis singles championship yesterday, defeating a fellow townsman, Joe Hunt, 6-3, 4-6, 6-3, 6-4, to retain the crown he won in 1936.

third man in the ring. There will be a "no foul" rule governing the bout, which means that the battle cannot be won or lost on a foul.

Every leader takes a beating sooner or later, but few get slammed around like the former league leader.

Montgomery Wards, leading the league by a comfortable margin, was defeated last night by Commercial National Bank, 17-2, to drop to third in the standings. Santa Ana City league softball standings: Montgomery Wards, 6-2; Commercial National Bank, 5-3; Grand Central Market, 5-4; Elks, 6-4; Comel. Natl. Bank, 5-4; Carpenters, 4-4; M. E. South, 0-9.

Three pitchers were used by the loose-playing B. P. O. E. team including the "mighty atom," Darwin (Scottie) Scott. Starting slinger Edwin Cox was knocked around for six runs in the first five innings, with Haynes, a right hander, a right delivery coming to the "rescue."

Haynes could get only one man out, while allowing six runs, and Scott tried his fling. Five Commercial runs crossed the plate before Scott got Harvey Hemphill out on a pop up to second.

CONWAY LEADS
George Conway led the massacre with a homer and two smashing doubles in five trips. Erwin Youel also hit a four-bagger for the Bank.

Roy Stout did a good job of pitching for the Commercial. He allowed five scattered hits. One home run was hit by the Scott into center field. Manager Ken Miller filled in at second for the Elks.

In the first game, Walt Gundersen scored the winning run in the sixth, on a bunt when "Rip" Collins was out. The third baseman, who had been in the game since the first inning, was out trying to reach third on the play.

Haynes had tied the score in the second on a long homer over the fence. He also got a single in the sixth to be the only one to register more than one hit off Walt Jordan.

SULLIVAN HITS TWO-BAGGER
"Sully" Sullivan brought in Jimmy Wendorf in the first for the Ward's on a two-bag hit into center.

ABBY fanned six Church batters, and didn't allow a man to reach first on a free pass. . . . A fast double play killed a Methodist rally in the seventh, when Judge Kenneth Morrison was caught at second and Stanley Slaback was nabbed at first.

Wendorf to hit. Jimmy Haynes came down from Los Angeles to add greatly to the Church cause. . . . Fourteen men came to bat in the sixth for the Commercial, Harold Youel scoring twice on two straight hits.

THE CHAMPION, JIMMY BRADDOCK, DEFENDS HIS TITLE AGAINST JOE LOUIS TONIGHT

Confident Braddock Picked By 'Pap' Over Louis Tonight

By TOM (PAP) PAPROCKI
Discounting the obvious effort of promoters to build up the champion and tear down the challenger with the idea of selling an interesting contest to fight fans, it is apparent that Champion Jimmy Braddock has gained many supporters by the spirit and form he showed in training.

There was a carefree spirit around the champion's camp. After all these years in the ring game, Braddock went through his paces with a zest and confidence that one would hardly expect to find in a lamb being led to slaughter. Even roadwork, a drudge and a bore to veteran fighters, was no ordeal to Jimmy. He was anxious to get into the best possible shape and willing to do whatever was asked.

Chances are Braddock will enter the ring as fit physically as is possible. If his condition, experience and punch are not enough to defend his crown then he simply is not entitled to the purple robes of ring royalty.

Experts insist Joe Louis is not the Bomber of old. But how much of his former efficiency Joe must possess to beat Braddock is a poser. He has youth in his favor. Speed. And the punch. In training Louis did not set the world on fire. His sparmates were hardly of the caliber to fit him for a long, grueling contest. The whole grind was a bore to him. But, then, Louis has not been a lion in training for any of his recent bouts. In the ring he is something else again.

Hungry fighters generally win the championship. Of the two, odd-ly enough, Braddock, the champion, is apparently the hungrier. Having attained a measure of affluence undreamed of two years ago, Louis seems satisfied he has collected plenty of this world's goods. He has been living like a prince. Even the chance of gaining the title does not seem to inspire him.

LOWRY, CABALLERO
Donning sombrero and braided belt, Ed Lowry took his "Sing Time" troupe on an imaginary journey south of the Rio Grande during the broadcast of the program tonight at 7 o'clock from KVOE.

SINGING PAGE BOY
Bobby Gibson, who is rapidly forging his way from the ranks of CBS page boys to a prominent place in radio, will be heard in a tenor solo on the "Hammerstein Music Hall" this afternoon at 4 o'clock from KNX. Other guest stars will be Robert Halliday, tenor of White Horse inn and other Broadway musical productions; Terri Franconi, Latin baritone; and Corina Wright, socialite entertainer.

GOGO DELYS, GUEST
Gogo Delys, blues singer, and Everett Marshall will be the guest vocal soloists on the "Musical Moments" program tonight on KVOE at 8:45. The program also presents the Songsmiths quartet and Gus Haenschel and his 32-piece orchestra.

FRANK FAY, 'PROF.'
Concluding the current madcap broadcasts from the campus of "Jack Oakley College," "Prof." Fay, noted comedian, as guest professor of the "Commencement Exercises" on the broadcast over KNX tonight from 5:30 to 6:30.

WHITE WHACKER, BROWN BOMBER 'MIX IT'
Braddock or Louis? That will be the big question in the minds of the sports-loving public tonight as two pair of fists fly—one to assume the title of heavyweight ring champion of the world, the other to retain that title. The largest audience will not be at the ring-side in Chicago's Comiskey park, however, but rather before the millions of radio receivers throughout the country. Clem McCarthy and Edwin C. Hill will describe the bout, starting at 7 o'clock over the combined red and blue networks of the National Broadcasting company, which includes KFI and KECA in the Southland.

CADMAN FEATURED
Making one of his rare radio appearances, Charles Wacker, cadman, eminent American composer, will be featured guest tonight with the "Royal Troubadours" on KVOE at 7:30. Cadman will be interviewed on musical trends.

KNX ON THE AIR
Another "On the Air With Lud Gluskin" broadcast will be presented over KNX tonight at 8:45. Deep-voiced Virginia Verrill, sophisticated star of song, will be featured by Thomas Freebairn Smith during his "Leaves in the Wind" program over KNX tonight at 6:45.

PLAY'S PREMIERE
"The Dreamer," an original play written by John Galsworthy, will be given its world premiere in Al Johnson's "Cafe Tropicana" program over KNX tonight from 7:30 to 8:30. Johnson, singing star of radio, stage and films, will play the lead role, accompanied by a cast of prominent actors.

BULL RETURNS
Returning south to Los Angeles after a week of sports broadcasts from San Francisco, Frank Bull resumes his nightly athletic news and comments on KVOE tonight at 6:30.

CHICAGO NINE FAVORED ON OWN FIELD

By SID FEDER
Associated Press Sports Writer

"Loaded for bear," the Cubs and the Giants go to work on each other today in the National league's first "crucial" series of the season at Chicago.

The tangle will decide, for the time being at least, just which way the pennant chase is headed.

Pending the results of the current club-wrecking by the Cardinals, the series begins the jockeying for position for the start of the last-half pennant drive.

The Cubs, sporting a one game lead, figure to put themselves in a nice spot for the start of the campaign after July 4 run by to retain the Cubs anxious to keep the Cubs intact, but they must get ready for the Cardinals. In third by a half game now, it won't do any good if they wind up with less than an even break with the Cubs and Gas House Gang.

Basing the theory on their records in their last 20-or-so games, the Cubs can finish on top in two out of three if they continue their recent pace. They have won 17 of 21 games in which they have averaged better than six runs and 11 hits per game, compared to the Giants record of about four runs and eight hits over the same period.

Hubbell's slump makes a sorry sight of the Giant pitching, while the Cubs feature a flinging force that has gone the route in 14 of 21 contests.

NAZIS CLOSE PAROCHIAL SCHOOLS

Move Against Bavaria Catholics May Draw Protest of Pope

MUNICH, Germany. (AP)—Hundreds of thousands of Catholic school children quit their parochial schools all over a predominantly Catholic Bavaria yesterday in obedience to a Nazi government order which dissolved the schools and made them secular institutions.

In Munich and Bavaria alone, the decree converted 966 confessional schools into secular institutions. Only 100 secular schools had existed heretofore in this area. Authorities insisted they closed the Catholic schools "with the parents' consent."

POPE EXPECTED TO REPLY TO CLOSING

VATICAN CITY. (AP)—Vatican sources said today they expected Pope Pius XI to oppose with all his power the closing of Catholic confessional schools in Germany.

They declared the German government was proceeding steadily with a plan of replacing clerical teachers with laymen in spite of its accord with the Vatican.

4-H Summer Camp Under Way

Governor Merriam has proclaimed this week recreation week, and Orange county 4-H members are making the most of it by holding their annual camp this week at Camp Radford, in the San Bernardino mountains. The largest number of 4-H boys and girls in several years departed Tuesday morning to spend five days of camping. Nearly 100 members made up the group, which represents 20 of the 24 clubs in the county. This year the Orange county group is camping with Riverside county members.

Miss Frances Liles and Ross E. Crane of the local farm advisor's office, with the assistance of several adult leaders, have charge of the group. A varied program of activities will be enjoyed during the week. Woodbridge Metcalf, extension specialist in forestry, will be in camp this year. He is an outstanding authority in this field.

Camp will end Saturday afternoon, and the group is expected to arrive home about 6 p. m. Saturday.

Miss Forman to Introduce Speaker

Unexpected professional obligations have called Miss Ethel Walker to Los Angeles this afternoon and cancelled her appearance on the platform of the summer forum to introduce the speaker tonight. Her place is to be filled by Miss Clara Louise Forman, assistant county librarian, acting head of the library system this summer while the county librarian is on leave of absence.

Miss Forman was a student under Ray Adkinson while the present County Superintendent of schools was instructor of economics at the high school. Adkinson, who leads the discussion tonight on "Problems Facing This Year's Graduates," is an Orange county native.

The program begins with a brief piano recital by Bill Beeman at 7:45. The meeting is held at the Unitarian church and is open to the public.

Okeh Industrial Education Pact

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—The state board of education yesterday approved a revised contract between the state and federal governments for industrial education.

Harry Hicker, chairman of the bureau of vocational rehabilitation, said that last year 1052 handicapped persons given vocational training had been placed in employment at a cost of $162 each. Other states, Hicker told the board, spent an average of $283 a case. The training is chiefly for persons who have been incapacitated in their vocation.

Strikers Claim Effort at Peace

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—The defense continued efforts today to convince a jury that 21 men charged with conspiracy to trespass and damage property in connection with the sit-down strike at the Douglas Aircraft plant observed their leaders' orders for peaceful strike.

Carl L. Anderson, a defendant, testified yesterday that he and his fellow-strikers took all precautions to protect the plant, and heeded advice to avoid violence.

Actor Bogart Sued for Divorce

LOS ANGELES. F.D.R. ORDERS SPENDING IN 1939 CUT

WASHINGTON. (AP)—Government department heads have received instructions from President Roosevelt to arrange for reduced expenditures in the 1939 fiscal year.

Department heads are to submit figures to the budget bureau by Sept. 15.

Daniel W. Bell, acting budget director, advised the departments that the President instructed "every possible effort should be made to bring the amount of each item below the corresponding amount available for expenditure in the fiscal year 1938."

Treasury estimates forecast a deficit in 1938 of $418,000,000. Officials would not estimate 1939 revenues, but said that if government income continued to increase and expenditures were reduced, there should be a surplus in 1939.

Ginger Rogers And Fred Astaire Are Knock-kneed

PASADENA. (AP)—One of the secrets of the dancing success of Fred Astaire and Ginger Rogers was disclosed to the California Oranthe Association convention here today.

"They're knock-kneed!" "Their dexterity, or the grace of ballet and esthetic artists like Theodore Kosloff or Fanchon Wolfe," said a speaker, Dr. William F. Madsen of Pasadena, "is due to the fact that they are knock-kneed."

"In fact, one could make the startling assertion that the best dancers are knock-kneed. The anatomy of the pelvis, thighs, knees and legs put these members in a knock-kneed position when they properly support weight."

Knock knees also are an asset to a linesman of a football team, Dr. Madsen said, citing Ed Widseth, University of Minnesota tackle. And Birger Rund of Norway, eight years a world champion ski jumper, has them. "The power of a football linesman," said Dr. Madsen, "is dependent on getting a wide base of support—feet planted fairly wide and thighs held together. He must have a firm grip on the ground and direct this force up through the thighs which tend to be held in a position favoring abduction."

Play Review on Club Program

Mona Summers Smith of the Santa Ana library, reviewed the comedy, "You Can't Take It With You," by Kaufman and Moss, last night when she was guest artist at the dinner meeting of the Santa Ana Business and Professional Women's club.

Her clever interpretations of the members of the Sycamore family made up the entire program and provided a delightful evening for the club.

Guests at last night's meeting were Edna Batten, president of the Colton club; Mrs. Adelaide Cochran of Visalia and Hannah Douglas, both former members of the local club; Misses Marie Smith, Muriel Anderson, Catherine Walbridge and A. Schultz.

Due to the Fourth of July holiday, which will be observed July 5, the club voted not to meet that night.

Rubini Claims Wife Cruel

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—The second marriage of Jan Rubini, famous violinist, was in the divorce courts today.

The musician, now engaged in film and radio work, filed a divorce suit against the former Adele Crane, Australian musical comedy actress, yesterday.

Rubini charged cruelty, claiming his wife said she loathed America and Americans.

Ear-Mark of Cantaloupe's Taste Is in Stem-Mark!

Ripeness in a melon is no test of its flavor. How did it ripen? Answer that and you can tell in advance how it will taste. Ripeness on healthy vines is the secret on well-flavored melons. And the best way for you to tell if the melon has ripened on the vine is to examine the stem scar.

If the scar is smooth, clean and cuplike, it means that the melon was picked at "full-slip" or when ripe enough for the fruit to separate easily from the stem. A melon picked at "half-slip," or at a less ripe stage, will have some of the stem adhering. If there is a little secretion of sugar around the stem scar it is a fairly safe indication that the melon is sweet enough for your table.

By 1937 Tests OF THE AMERICAN AUTOMOBILE ASSOCIATION CONTEST BOARD (Washington, D. C.)

"RESULTS OF EXTENSIVE TESTS conducted by the Contest Board of the American Automobile Association on the nine Non-Premium Gasolines leading in sales volume in the Pacific Coast area substantiate the statement of the Standard Oil Company of California that Standard Gasoline is Unsurpassed."

AMERICAN AUTOMOBILE ASSOCIATION
CONTEST BOARD, WASHINGTON, D. C.

TO Standard Gasoline goes this new high distinction—Certified Unsurpassed.

This finding speaks for itself. It is the official report of the A.A.A. Contest Board, Washington, D. C.—the nationally recognized authority on automotive performance of every sort. Year after year Standard Gasoline is unsurpassed—the ideal motor fuel for your car. And—you can depend on it—Standard will be kept unsurpassed.

Our laboratories are continuously testing and comparing the respective merits of Standard against the other leading gasolines on the market. One by one they are checked against the constantly changing requirements of the new motors as well. The big purpose of all this is to see that Standard is unsurpassed and remains so!

You now have additional proof—Certified by the American Automobile Association Contest Board. You'll find still more proof in every gallon of Standard Gasoline Unsurpassed. Try a tankful!

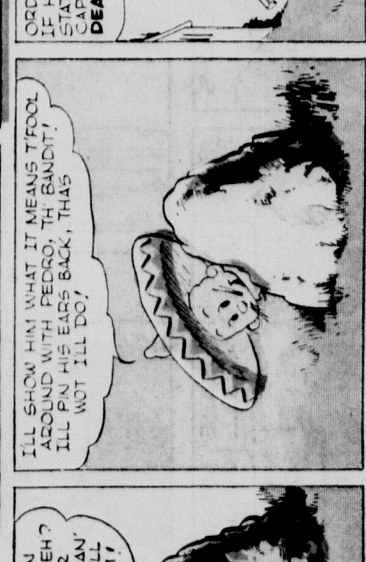

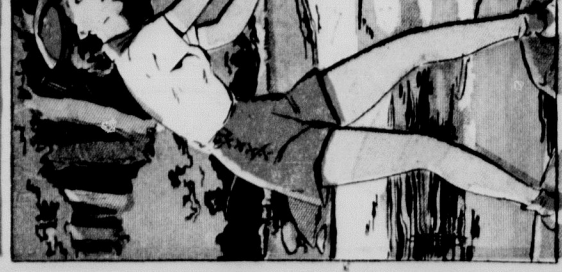

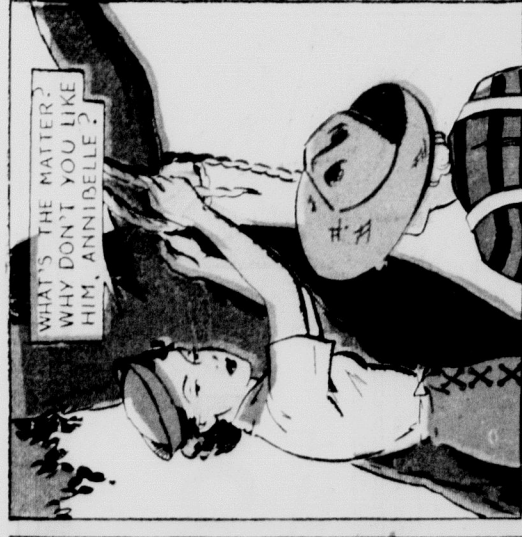

STANDARD OIL COMPANY OF CALIFORNIA

No more chinning, MADAM!

It used to be said of the Master Draper, head of an old-time dry goods store, that he stroked his chin knowingly when certain customers walked in. This was a sign to his assistant that they could probably be "shaved" . . . or given the worst of the bargain!

Today, walking in and buying the goods for a new dress is wholly without any such hazard. The fabric marked "wool" is just that. If the fabric is composed of one of the newer, man-made yarns, the type of rayon is usually named in a sign on the counter, or on the end of the bolt of cloth.

And the price, you get out of the advertisement . . . no quibbling about that! You read before you shop, and buy just as much as the pattern-envelope calls for. Every day, now, there are especially good buys in dress goods.

City of Santa Ana Operating on Balanced Budget

AUDITOR FOR CITY MAKES REPORT

Municipality Expend $58,400 Also For Construction

Santa Ana pointed the way to balanced budgets for other political subdivisions of the nation today.

A report on annual expenditures of the city submitted to the city council last night by City Auditor Lloyd Banks showed that besides operating on a balanced budget, this city expended $58,400 for new construction and improvements.

Besides this capital outlay, the city spent $18,524 in furnishing material and equipment on various relief projects.

Crossing Guards
And in addition to capital outlay expenditures, one of the major functions performed during the past year was the creation of the utility department to maintain guarded school crossings. Through the careful work and supervision by men of this department the city was able to report that not one accident occurred nor was any child injured during the entire year, Banks declared.

Other accomplishments during the year, as outlined in the annual report, were as follows:

"Two additional motor officers have been added, and the two-way radio system has been installed, which was greatly needed, and is proving well worth the investment made for the protection of our citizens."

Replace Equipment
"By maintaining a program of purchasing new equipment when records show that old equipment is costing too much to operate, the expense of maintenance of all equipment owned by the city was greatly reduced over the past year, which shows that it is a good policy to replace badly worn equipment."

"Under our relief project work the city has built new sewer lines, new storm drain on West Seventeenth street and has completed approximately 80 per cent of the Santiago creek park project, which should be open to the public by August or September of this year, and when this project is completed Santa Ana will not only have park facilities but also a large recreational playground with facilities for bowling, tennis, nightball, etc., which will prove a much-needed recreation center for Santa Ana."

Water Office
"The water department office has had a complete new installation of office equipment and at the present time is one of the most modern offices for the collection of water revenue and other records in the state of California."

"During the year the large elevated water tank was completely cleaned inside and the entire exterior repainted."

"Several overhead lights have been added in various districts and the ornamental lighting system has also been increased wherever necessary."

"One additional inspector was added to our building department to take care of additional inspection work necessary, due to the increase of building activity in our city."

Large Inventory
"Also due to the increase in price of commodities our inventory of supplies and materials is much larger at the end of this fiscal year than at any time during the last several years, especially in material for the water department."

"For your information, as well as any of our citizens, a complete survey and charts of all receipts and expenditures have been made for the purpose of comparing work performed by Santa Ana, and the cost of these functions, with other cities, and I wish to state that these reports were prepared from the 'Annual Report of Financial Transactions of Municipalities' as compiled by the state of California."

Favorable Showing
"The results of these reports show that in the majority of all functions, the city of Santa Ana maintains a very favorable average of the 15 cities with which the comparisons were made."

"In conclusion, I wish to state that it has only been through the splendid cooperation of all departments and the willingness of all department officers to keep within their budgeted allowances, that the results as shown in this report were made possible, as all efforts were maintained to keep expenditures within the anticipated income, which means that the city of Santa Ana is working under a balanced budget."

ANTI-LYNCHING BILL FAVORED

WASHINGTON, (AP)—The senate judiciary committee yesterday approved by a vote of 13 to 3 the Wagner-Van Nuys anti-lynching bill.

The committee's vote sent to the senate floor a measure similar to anti-lynching bills that have met with filibusters from the southern senators in the past.

Senator Connally (D., Tex.), one of the three committee members who voted against the measure, said he did not believe the southern senators would filibuster this time. He said it looked as though the bill would be passed.

The house already has passed the anti-lynching bill introduced by Representative Gavan (D., N.Y.).

Mr. Haley Won't Like News He'll Get From Council

No, Mr. Haley, we are not planning to extend Bristol street north of Seventeenth to the state highway.

That will be the substance of a letter that the city council last night authorized City Clerk Ed Vegeley to address to John O. Haley, Hollywood real estate operator.

Last night the city council received a letter from Haley, who owns the southeast corner of Bristol and Seventeenth streets. Haley said he is anxious to have Bristol extended north of Seventeenth to meet the state highway. He said he understood that some time ago the council had this plan under consideration.

Councilman Plummer Bruns said the plan Haley refers to was a scheme to cut Bristol through from Memory lane to the south to shunt the traffic around that way. But the council indicated it has no such plans in mind.

City League To Meet Thursday

Lathrop Branch Will Remain Open For Summer Months

Julia Lathrop branch library, located on South Main and McFadden streets, will be open to the public as usual during summer vacation. The library will be open daily from 1 p. m. until 6 p. m. and three evenings a week, Monday, Wednesday, and Thursday, from 7 until 9 o'clock.

Many new books for adults, as well as children, have been added to the library shelves recently.

Among new non-fiction for adults are: "Return to Religion," (Link); "Mexico Around Me," (Max Miller); "Lancer at Large," (Yeats-Brown); "Japanese Flower Arrangement," (Preining); "Photography Today," (Spencer); "I Found No Peace," (Webb Miller); "Wild Bill Hickok," (Wildstach); "How to Win Friends and Influence People," (Carnegie); "Beam Ends," (Flynn); "Fifty-Five Men," (Rodel); "Motor Boats," (Atkin); "Once to Every Pilot," (Hawks); "Games for Your Party," (Stanley); "Handbook of Social Correspondence," (Taintor); "First World War," (Stallings); "Inside Europe," (Gunther); "I Visit the Soviets," (Delafield); "This Way to Beauty," (Rubenstein).

"Digestion and Health," (Cannon); "Funny Pieces," (Leacock); "Artie Patrols," (Campbell); "Viewed Without Alarm," (Millie); and "Mexico In Your Pocket," (Austin).

Included in popular new fiction are: "The Years," (Woolf); "Jordantown," (Johnson); "Busman's Honeymoon," (Sayers); "Shining River," (Sutherland); "Crucible," (Williams); "The Case Is Closed," (Wentworth); "Scarab Murder Case," (Van Dine); "No Stranger to My Heart," (Montross); "Rising Star," (Miller); "Darzee, Girl of India," (Marshall); "Sheriff of Painted Post," (MacDowell); "Four Marys," (Lea); "Spotlight," (Kelland); "Sound of Running Feet," (Lawrence); "Three Comrades," (Remarque); "Light Woman," (Gale); "Only Let Me Live," (Colver); "Love, I Dare Not," (Corliss); "Cards on the Table," (Christie); "Housemaster," (Beth); "Salt of the Sea," (Dingle); "Street of the Flag Cat," (Folles); "Trail Smoke," (Haycox); "Missing Minutiae," (Kastner); "Let Me Die Tuesday," (Miller); "Bread Into Roses," (Norris); "Stone Field," (Ostenso); "Outward Room," (Brand); "West of the Pecos," (Grey); "Son of Han," (La Fiere); "Sea of Grass," (Richter); "Unseen," (Terhune); and "Neighbor to the Sky," (Carroll).

Taxi Company To Use Two Names

A request for permission to use the name of the Courtesy Cab company on some of the taxicabs operated by the Broadway Cab company was made of the city council last night by M. A. Williams.

Williams recently purchased the good will and business of the Courtesy Cab company, combining it with his Broadway Cab company. The matter was referred to City Attorney L. W. Blodgett, who was asked to report back at the next meeting.

Blodgett said there was no objection to letting the company use both names, if the council so desired.

To Study Request For Home Office

Reversing its former stand, the city council last night moved to allow further investigation into a request by Dr. W. A. Harris that he be permitted to establish his professional office across the street from the Ebell clubhouse in his residence on French street.

At the last council meeting the recommendation of the planning commission was that the application be denied. The council, however, on motion of Councilman Plummer Bruns, voted to order the property posted and a public hearing set on July 6, when the council will meet again.

LAND BOUGHT FOR CREEK PARKWAY

100-Foot Entrance Is Made Possible By Acquisition

Continuing efforts to make the Santiago creek park one of the most attractive in the Southland, the city council last night authorized purchase of another tract of land which will be added to the park system.

The purchase involves an acre and a half of land, which is to be purchased from John Spykerman. The land will be used to make possible a 100-foot entrance to the park on North Main street, councilmen said.

Plans are to make a divided driveway, with a garden spot in the center. It is not expected that it will take long to finish this part of the work, but the park will not be completed until late August or September.

At suggestion of City Attorney L. W. Blodgett, the council authorized drawing of a warrant for $2500, which will be tendered in payment for the parcel of land after the beginning of the fiscal year on July 1. The property lies on the south side of Santiago creek.

Bakery Seeks To Retain Sign

A plea for the city council to leave the Van de Kamp bakery sign on the Empire market at Second and Broadway was made in a letter received last night by the council.

The letter, from J. M. Alexander, superintendent of maintenance for the bakery company, asked the council to allow the neonized sign to remain where it is on the front of the building.

It said the company that put the sign up had secured an agreement from the bakery that an attempt would be made to get an underwriter's label on the windmill type of sign. He pointed out, however, that it would be necessary to send the sign to San Francisco to get the approval, and that if any changes had to be made it would have to be sent there again. The matter was referred to the electrical inspector of the city for investigation and a report back to the city council.

Auto Laundry Must Change Fuel

Operators of the E. T. O. Auto laundry at 1015 West Fifth street were ordered by the city council last night to abate at once a nuisance caused by burning of oil fuel in heaters.

Councilman Ernest H. Layton, reporting on an investigation made by a council committee, said he had contacted Mrs. E. T. O'Malla, operator of the laundry, and that she promised to install new burners and use a higher grade fuel in the future.

A petition signed by 30 neighbors in the vicinity had asked the council to abate a nuisance caused by soot from the burners, which soiled clothes on the wash line and even got into the houses.

14 BOYS FACE CHARGES

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Fourteen boys between ages of 14 and 17, were held for arraignment on grand theft charges here today, suspected of having stolen more than 25 automobiles.

Coal Act in Effect Now

WASHINGTON, (AP)—President Roosevelt officially ordered into operation Monday the code of fair practices provided in the Guffey-Vinson act for the soft coal industry.

The act itself, replacing a law invalidated by the supreme court, specified the code should take effect Monday, but its operation depended upon the President's order. Almost simultaneous with the President's action the bituminous coal commission ordered a hearing here July 12 to determine what interstate coal would be subject to the code because of its effect on interstate commerce.

COUNTY WILL LOSE UNDER NEW LAW

Must Forego Interest On Check Accounts In Banks

Orange county will lose several thousand dollars a year in interest on its checking accounts unless the federal government postponed effectiveness of a new banking law, County Treasurer T. E. Stephenson reported today.

The treasurer, returning from the annual state convention of county treasurers at Lake Arrowhead, said the convention was told that a representative from Governor Merriam's office is in Washington seeking a delay of two years.

The new federal law prohibits national banks from paying interest on checking accounts. State law prohibits treasurers from depositing funds unless they get at least one-half of one per cent interest.

If the delay is not granted the governor may sign a bill which will allow deposits without interest, it was indicated.

Treasurer Stephenson said that if the interest payments are discontinued he will endeavor to keep such deposits as low as possible.

Swanner Returned To Library Board

Confirming a report in yesterday's Journal, the city council last night reappointed Charles Swanner, prominent local attorney, to the city library board.

Under a new system of staggered terms, Swanner's term has expired. The council last night, on motion of Councilman William Penn, unanimously reappointed Swanner.

Assistance League of Southern California Incorporates Santa Ana Chapter

Mrs. Hancock Banning Makes Charter Presentation

Adopting as the aims of its organization the worthwhile purposes back of the work which has been carried on for years by the Assistance League of Southern California—purposes stressing service and friendliness to those in need of a friend—the Assistance League of Southern California was yesterday incorporated as the second chapter organized in the widening program of the Southern California league.

Presentation of the charter to the new branch was made by Mrs. Hancock Banning, founder and president of the league, at the regular luncheon meeting of the local group in the home of its founder, Mrs. James Irvine, on Myford road, Tustin.

The luncheon was served this time out of doors, small tables spread with dainty linens dotting the expanse of lawn where two long, lace-covered tables had been set with the luncheon service. Lovely flowers in gay summer hues filled the bowls in the table centerpieces.

It was after the luncheon, when all had taken their places on the sunporch inside, that Mrs. Banning, in her gracious manner, officially welcomed the new chapter into her organization, prefacing the formal installation with a delightful talk on the history and achievements of the league since its formation.

Traces League History
The league, now boasting 13 departments, some earning and others for the purpose of extending philanthropy, has its roots in the World war, as an outgrowth of the service work done by an enterprising group of Southland women.

Two of the 13 departments receive the major part of the support from the Community Chest, with the league supplying the chest donations; and the league, with the aid of affiliated branches, supports in their entirety the other phases of the work which include:

A girls' club, in support of which the Junior auxiliary and the Sub-Dens play important parts; the Boys' club, now forming, in which the Junior Welfare aids; the welfare, handling hundreds of cases; the location bureau, finding employment for those out of work; the opportunity circle, in which women are taught to sew and to cook and are given the guidance they require; the day nursery, the thrift shop, the gift shop, the Nine o'Clock Players, the tea shop, the art room, the personnel committee and all giving league members means of expressing their help in some way to help in the betterment of their kind.

Assistance League welfare means anything to better humanity. Mrs. Banning concluded, quoting the motto of "All for Service, Service for All."

Vice President Speaks
Mrs. Edward Laughlin, first vice president of the Southern California league, also spoke a few words on the widening scope of work and organization of new chapters. San Pedro chapter, organized two years ago, was the first of the branches. Santa Ana is second, and Santa Monica, now in its probationary period, will be third, she pointed out.

"Stand as a friend to all who need a friend," was the message she left with her Santa Ana friends, who were organized for service and who are planning an enlarged program work in their community as their organization grows.

Mrs. Banning, complimenting the local chapter on its progress, already done, gave a brief resume of its achievements thus far and pointed out possible avenues of service down which it might travel in the future.

Every community, she pointed out, has different problems and needs, and it will be the work of this organization to discover them and adapt itself accordingly.

Presentation of the charter with the seal of the Assistance League of Southern California was made by Mrs. Banning to Mrs. Irvine, whose signature appears with that of Mrs. Banning on the documents.

Mrs. Irvine gave a short acceptance speech when the charter was presented.

The work of the Santa Ana chapter, as outlined in Mrs. Banning's talk, started with its contribution to the support of the Ebbl day nursery, its first project. Recently, on reorganization and application to join the Southern California league, the local group endowed a child's bed at St. Joseph's hospital, and has now endowed a second for maternity cases. The horse show given early in June raised more than one thousand dollars for these worthy causes, and Mrs. Banning commended the Santa Ana women highly on their work.

Twenty-two members of the board of directors and committees of the Southern California league accompanied Mrs. Banning to Santa Ana, these including Mrs. Laughlin, who will be a frequent visitor to the new chapter; Mrs. Michael Cramer, recording secretary; Mesdames N. Dawson, Lotie Morse, Wesley Roberts, John Alvord, W. J. Lewis, Paul Talbert, George E. Bliss, William Thomas, Harold Morton, Agnes McComb, Carl Schiller, Charles Cope, Gordon Cray, Norman Herman, Helen Frame Smith, Reuben Larsen, and Gordon Nott, Miss Florentine Michaud, Miss Jean Hill and Miss Helen Mathewson.

LADIES' AID TOMORROW
General Aid of the First Presbyterian church will have a noon luncheon tomorrow at Anaheim park to wind up its year. Members are to bring a covered dish, coffee, sandwiches, and table service.

CHANGE FOOD SALE
A tea and cooked food sale scheduled for Friday at the parish hall of the Church of the Messiah will be held Thursday instead. It was announced today. Hours are from 2 to 5 p. m.

EASTERN STAR OFFICERS LUNCH HERE

Members of the Conductresses' association of the Order of Eastern Star of Orange county were pleasantly entertained at lunch Saturday afternoon by Clara Seaver and Pearl Lyman of Santa Ana at the home of the former, 824 South Van Ness street.

A smart red and white color scheme was carried out in tapers, flowers, and the menu that the hostesses served. Conversation and a brief business meeting occupied the afternoon, the latter led by Martha Pickering.

It was announced that a dinner meeting would be held June 30 at Anaheim to honor Maude Ethel Fluecht, grand conductress of the organization, and Jennie Tarpley, an honorary member, invited the group to meet at her Arrowhead cottage July 10.

Those present were Emma Henry of Garden Grove, Alice Whitaker of Fullerton, Alice Lewis of Norwalk, Alice Herman of La Habra, Eva Jarvis of Brea, Martha Pickering of Huntington Beach, Georgina Boyd of Buena Park, Pearl Hyde of Fullerton, Ethel Piety of Laguna Beach, Marjorie Luth of Anaheim, Josephine Hartman of Artesia, Jeanette Tarpley of Santa Ana, the hostesses, and a guest, Ethel de Wolfe of Hermosa Beach.

WPA MUSIC CLASSES IN PROGRAM

Mothers and daughters, big sisters and little sisters, participated in an informal musical last night in the auditorium of Spurgeon Memorial church in which Mrs. Margaret Ludlow presented the pupils who have been studying under her in the W. P. A. free piano classes.

Some of the students had only been studying a few weeks, many had not had pianos on which to practice, yet all gave creditable performances as a part of the delightful hour arranged by Mrs. Ludlow.

In addition to the playing of the pieces they had learned for the occasion, the younger members of the class also gave demonstrations of their learning in sight reading and other types of contests.

HOUSEDRESSES WORN AT AID SESSION

Southwest section of the ladies' aid of the First Presbyterian church had an enjoyable meeting last week in the gardens of Mrs. L. E. Barry of Huntington Beach.

All members wore gay summery house-dresses which created a pleasant note of informality.

Mrs. Adaline Hersher led devotions and a program of readings was given by Miss Bodeman.

Announcement was made of a general aid picnic to be held Wednesday, June 23, at Anaheim park.

DRAMA SECTION CLOSSES YEAR

Drama section of Ebbl concluded its year last night with a friendly little gathering in the clubhouse lounge. Mrs. L. L. Beecher, recently re-elected leader, conducted a business session and gave an interesting resume of "How to Choose a Play."

Informal reading of the Pulitzer prize play, "You Can't Take It With You" followed, with acts read by Mrs. Robert Guild, Mrs. Ralph Smalley and Mrs. Hugh Gerard.

Mrs. Beeman announced that Mrs. Henry Williams had been named program chairman for the coming year, and named Mrs. Gerard and Mrs. Clarence Nisson to serve with her.

The evening ended with punch and wafers served by Mrs. Beeman.

CLASSMATES FETE MISS FRYE

A surprise breakfast was given Sunday morning by a group of classmates who complimented Miss Betty Dorothy Frye, graduated with honors this year from high school.

The affair was inspired by Miss Frye's departure that evening for Scottsbluff, Neb., to spend the summer with her aunt, Mrs. Dorothy Vanderhoof. An enjoyable feature was the presentation of little remembrances to be opened at regular stages of her journey on the train.

Miss Frye is the daughter of Mrs. Hazel C. Frye, 1322 Bush street.

FOR COMPANY CURTISIES—Garnet velvet ribbon trims this Sunday best dress made of one of the new sheer cotton fabrics designed by children. Patterned with dancing dolls, the frock has a square neck, a gored skirt and tricky wing-like sleeves.

FOR DILIGENT DIGGING—These two sun suits, also cut from fabrics designed by children, are meant for such arduous undertakings as hide-and-seek and digging in the backyard. The suit at the left is splattered with hat-topped musical instruments. It has circular pieces of fabric, finished with elastic bands, attached to each leg. The other suit shows big fat cats fishing for goldfish—using their tails as hook and line. Its big organdy bow holds the panties in place and adds a dress-up touch.

FOR SAND SUNNING—This sun suit is hand-knitted of mercerized knitting and crocheted cotton. For the most part it's light tan. The edging, buttons and the fish, however, are in bright blue. Soft white ropes connect the halter neck.

Twins Feted On Sixth Birthday

Dressed alike in their pink silk Easter dresses, trimmed in blue, the little Misses Jeanne and Joanne Ellwanger, curly-haired twin daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Ellwanger of 2356 Riverside Drive, entertained fifteen of their small friends at a circus party yesterday afternoon to celebrate their sixth birthday anniversary which occurred the day before.

The children gathered from 3 to 5 o'clock, and played games before finding their places around the merry-go-round which centered the birthday table.

Gay streamers of pink, green, and white crepe paper, extending from the central chandelier to the edges of the table, made a festive scene with added notes of gaiety in the bright-colored balloons dangling among them.

Frosted animal crackers pranced their way around the merry-go-round, which was constructed out of a lampshade, and circus animals, clove and acrobats filled all the rest of the space not taken up by the places of the guests.

Whirligigs in the ice cream and lollipop favors also carried out the circus theme of the whole party.

Seated at the end of the table, opposite their twin hostesses in their pink frocks, were another pair of twins, Louise and Joyce Markel, who were in blue taffeta frocks. The little guests finding places along the edges of the circus were Nancy Murane, Mary Anne Kloos, Tommy and Jack Croal, Jimmy Gherkin, Harriet and Betty Ann Huffman, Joyce, Louise, and Jules Markel, Tommy, Joan and Bobby Wetzel, Melvin Matthys, and Norman Anderson.

A family barbecue Sunday night at the Ellwanger home also marked the first celebration were the twins' grandmother, Mrs. Elizabeth Senior, Mrs. Mabel James, an aunt, and J. F. Senior, an uncle, all of Los Angeles, and Mr. and Mrs. Ellwanger and the twins.

Ventura friends, Mr. and Mrs. Chester Cagnacci and daughter, Donna Mae, spent today with the Ellwangers.

HOSTESS TRIO GIVES PARTY AT LAGUNA HOME

The intriguing beach cottage of Miss Genevieve Humiston at Laguna Beach was scene of a pretty party Saturday afternoon when she, Miss Mary Schofield, and Miss Lena Thomas entertained at luncheon complementing Miss Mary Porter, retiring Girl Reserve secretary. They received their guests on the lovely terrace with its smart blue and white furniture.

Gay, red, blue and yellow tones carried out in the decoration scheme of the house were repeated on jaunty sails of cantaloupe boats at the luncheon tables, and in all the nautical appointments that were used, as well as dishes and glassware. Yellow marguerites and blue bachelor buttons added to the effect.

Bridge later resulted in high score prizes being awarded to Miss Margaret Fine and Miss Mary Paxton while a dainty guest prize was presented to Miss Porter.

Guests of the hostess-trio included Mrs. Porter of San Marino, Mrs. K. H. Sutherland, Mrs. John McCoy, Mrs. Grace East and the Misses Mary Howard, Alma Karlsson, Damaris Beeman, Margaret Fine, Bonnie Kiser, Mary Bowyer, Isobel McCormac, Roberta Nichols, Joy Townsley, Josephine White, Helen Lowe, Eugenia Gilbert, Willena Bell, Mary Paxton, Carol Erskine, Dorothy Decker and Clara Steiman.

Your Baby Book

Elephants 'n' tigers 'n' men with funny faces. A merry-go-round with animals going at crazy paces. Fat balloons and thin balloons and gallons of ice cream. And all the dozen other things that make a birthday dream—When twins are six years old.

The twins were six on Sunday—the Ellwanger twins, Jeanne and Joanne, and do they feel grown up, though, 'cause they thought they would wake up at least three feet taller and pounds heavier and be able to wear shoes "like mamma's" when they woke up on their sixth birthday . . . and here they were just the same size as the day before and their own twin shoes still fitting them perfectly.

Then, too, they expected to go to school on the day they were six, and it was Sunday and there wasn't any school and now it's vacation, so they have to wait until September.

Six years old also meant toe dancing and playing the violin, and they had ordered a wedding cake like the one mother and dad had on their wedding day—and not a one of these things materialized.

Their disappointment didn't last, however, because it was just so much fun being six, and then there was a barbecue in their backyard in the evening, with Grandma Senior and their uncle and aunt there, and yesterday another big party for 17 of their little friends including another set of twins—Louise and Joyce Markel.

Subtracting "sisters" from that line in the opera, "H.M.S. Pinafore," and adding two grandmothers in their place, young Carey Ellsworth Wilson, who arrives just five days ago out at the Santa Ana Valley house, is not unlike the "captain of the king's navy" with his plentiful supply of cousins and uncles and aunts.

Carey, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Parker Wilson of 521 South Shelton street, was born June 17, at 9 o'clock in the morning; and weighed nine pounds and six ounces, has black hair and a good pair of lungs, according to Uncle Glenn (Thorne).

His uncle, by the way, thinks he'll make a winner in a hog-calling contest when he grows up, but his mother figures he'll be an opera star, because his crying, she says, is music to her. When Aunt Alice (Thorne), daddy's sister, saw him she thought he was so cute that it just seemed to make the two months until the arrival of the one she's ordered seem like two years.

Grandma Wilson came down from Whittier to welcome this little grandson, and she's coming back again when Carey and his mother go home. Carey's mother was Eulalia Martin before she was married.

Barbara and Nancy Farwell, we hear, have been quite sick—sick enough to have nurses—but they're getting better now, and we wish them a speedy recovery.

An island for his birthday—that's what Donnie Holmes had yesterday when he was six years old. Or at least an island for one whole day.

With his dad and brother, he was to Catalina and back all in the one day to celebrate his birthday anniversary, and the boat trip was just grand.

Freddie Tarr is home again from the mountains, and on Monday he's going to have his tonsils out and be ready for a fine, busy summer.

LINEN SHOWER FOR EVELYN COFFMAN

Parties are filling this last week before the nuptials of Miss Evelyn Coffman and William Graupensperger, who will be married Sunday afternoon at the First Christian church.

On Friday, Miss Coffman had a charming surprise when she was honored by her fiancé's mother, Mrs. G. A. Graupensperger, and his sister, Miss Lillian Graupensperger, at their home at 1110 South Parton street.

Hearts were played, high score award going to Mrs. Everett Cornwell and low to Mrs. Clarence Spencer.

Later the tables were centered with bowls of pantries and refreshments were served to the guests. Linen gifts were showered on the honor guest.

Gladioli and larkspur in pastel shades decked the rooms where the following gathered to share the evening with bride-to-be and the hostesses.

Mesdames M. H. Coffman, Everett Cornwell, R. Huber, E. Arnold, John Luxenbourger, C. E. Hayes, Frances Conklin, M. Hill, L. Nicholson, T. Young, J. Johnson, all of Santa Ana; Misses Mildred Cowan and Ann Southernland, Tustin; Mesdames U. S. Glaze and J. M. Chilson, Garden Grove; Mrs. J. E. Storey, Costa Mesa; Mesdames Carl Opp, L. Wallace, N. Allen, V. Madison, J. Ragan, D. Gilmore, Orange; Mrs. George Barr, Fullerton and Mrs. L. C. Kliever, Los Angeles.

Local Matron Honored At Conclave

Election of one of their members, Mrs. Charles Woodfill, to the office of national recording secretary was but one of several outstanding events for Santa Ana chapter of Kappa Delta Phi, national non-academic sorority for women, when that organization held its national convention from Friday to Sunday at Long Beach in the Villa Riviera.

Mrs. Woodfill is a past president of the Santa Ana group. Other Californians elected to grand officers were Miss Bert Loftstrom, treasurer; Mrs. Wayne Harner, director; and Mrs. Geraldine Buzant, director.

Santa Ana was also honored in receiving recognition for a 100 per cent attendance at the sessions. Mrs. Woodfill, Mrs. Meredith Crumley, Miss Marlene Cook, Miss Louise Pee and Miss Vivian Van Norman stayed at the villa for the convention's duration, and all the other members commuted each day.

Among enjoyable features were a sport dance at Lakewood Country club Friday, a dinner at the Pacific Coast club Saturday, an installation tea Sunday in the Villa tea room, and a sightseeing trip to the battleships Sunday evening.

Many of the more than 100 delegates stayed on in Long Beach for several more days, and a group from Chicago are guests of Mrs. Woodfill at her Laguna Beach home.

Other Santa Ana members attending were Mrs. William Stark, president and official delegate; Mrs. Thomas Pangle, Mrs. Godfrey Speich, Mrs. Kenneth Hill, Mrs. Chester Siegal, Mrs. Frances Lacy, Miss Estelle Schlesinger, Miss Jean Gaspar, Miss Hum Kendall and Miss Rose Allen.

Mrs. Stark also has as her guest her sister-in-law, Mrs. Harry Stark, who is a delegate from the Ames, Iowa, chapter.

BOYLES HOSTS TO CONTRACT GROUP

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Boyle of 1235 South Main street entertained their club of Masonic lodge masters and wardens and their wives Saturday night at a delightful contract bridge party in their home.

At the conclusion of the playing, combined scores were added and first prize went to Mr. and Mrs. Robert Keller, second to Mr. and Mrs. Courtney Chandler, and low to Mr. and Mrs. Ted Hunter.

Mr. and Mrs. Chandler were guest substitutes at the party, and members present were Mr. and Mrs. Hunter, Mr. and Mrs. Keller, Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Allen, Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Pearson, Mr. and Mrs. Carlyle Dennis, Mr. and Mrs. James Coulson, and the host and hostess.

In the absence of Mr. and Mrs. George Scovill, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Dimmitt, and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Armin, one table was eliminated.

Late in the evening, the card tables were arranged with dainty linens and flowers and a delicious dessert course was served.

GRADUATE HAS EASTERN TRIP

Miss Virginia Hardin, graduate daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Austin A. Hardin of 1330 South Flower street, left yesterday via the Santa Fe on a vacation trip that is her graduation present from her parents.

She will be met by friends at Chicago and will continue on to South Bend, Ind., to visit for several weeks. Later she will drive east to Buffalo, Niagara Falls, and New York City. On her return to Santa Ana she will visit in Kansas City, Mo. and other middle-western towns.

Girls' Ebbl Concludes Year

Formal inauguration of new officers combined with informal enjoyment Saturday when members of Girls' Ebbl had their final meeting of the year at the Balboa Island beach home of Mr. and Mrs. Porter Luth. With Miss LaVonne Franson presiding, Miss Barbara Speed was inducted into the presidency; Miss Harriet Spicer, first vice presidency; Miss Barbara Tucker, second vice presidency; Miss Anna Margaret Bell, secretaryship; and Miss Patsy Miller, treasurer.

Girls enjoyed all the pastimes incidental to the beach during the day, with a delightful luncheon at noon at which the Misses Louise Walker, Evelyn Bennett, Janet Hollingsworth and Genevieve King were hostesses.

Their guests for the day were their three advisors, Mrs. E. D. White, Mrs. C. V. Davis, and Mrs. M. B. Wellington; Mrs. Mary Bennett, Mrs. Walter Hickey, Mrs. Porter Luth, and Mrs. E. D. Franson. Mrs. White, retiring from her local position to assume the state directorship of juniors, was presented with a pretty gift by the girls.

Members present were the Misses Beatrice Hest, Marjorie Mize, Carol Brinkerhoff, Eileen Smith, Rosemary Blodgett, Evelyn Bennett, Eloise Hickey, Lucille Lambert, Jean McKamy, Barbara Tucker, Betty Lacy, Jean Dowds, Barbara Speed, Jane Hicks, Patricia Emison, Patsy Miller, Betty Hayes, Jane Nalle, LaVonne Franson, June Clark, Carolyn Mills and Phyllis Luth.

White daisies accented by green tapers decorated the luncheon table at which Mrs. George Chapman of 2032 North Main street, seated members of her bridge club Friday afternoon.

Later, contract was enjoyed, with prizes going to Mrs. E. F. Musser and Mrs. J. L. Allen.

Members present were Mrs. C. M. McCain, Mrs. Louis Luth, Mrs. C. B. Hill, Mrs. J. L. Allen, Mrs. H. L. Stone and in the absence of Dr. Mabel Tremain and Mrs. George Perkins, Mrs. C. F. Skirvin and Mrs. E. F. Cusef.

MRS. CHAPMAN IS CLUB HOSTESS

They will meet July 10 for a skating party, with a picnic later at Birch park. Officers have not yet been elected.

GUILD MEETS
St. Elizabeth's Guild of the Church of the Messiah will meet tomorrow at 7:30 p. m. at the home of Mrs. Charles Swanner, corner of East Seventeenth and Hervey avenue.

Mary Stoddard
Don't Be Budget-Conscious! But Wear Your Poverty at a Jaunty Angle!

Are you having trouble with that budget? Most of us are. If we figure one out, we think we can't do without it—if we throw it away, we find we can't do without it and maintain any sort of financial equilibrium. Well, there's hope for all of us if we are to believe that dynamic young writer, Marjorie Hillis, who started us last summer with her book, "Live Alone and Like It."

Now she just as cheerfully attacks this income business in her new book, "Orchids on Your Budget."

The people who wear their poverty at a jaunty, but not raffish, angle can be a lot of fun, while their mournful brethren and sisters in Mortgage Manor are just No Sale, declares Miss Willis. In other words, you don't have to be rich to be a pain in the neck.

"The only thing you ought to be ashamed of is economizing grubbi-ly," she writes. "Nobody who matters cares a pouf what your income is these days, but people do care how you live and how you act about it. The scale isn't important, but the effect is. There are few things more boring than to see people counting their pennies mournfully or making you uncomfortably conscious of the need for constant counting, and few things more attractive than to see people living charmingly and cheaply. Women who talk poverty and complain about the things they can't have are invariably tiresome, and women who make something gay out of next to nothing are sure to be exciting."

Pea-Pooh to Poverty
Miss Hillis, whose "Live Alone and Like It" caused such a furore last summer, goes on to say in this book that the trick in living gayly and, incidentally, getting a few orchids (her own synonym for luxuries) is more fun, lies in the right attitude—not money. She realizes that most of us have to economize, but she thinks we should do it smilingly . . . with what she calls an air.

The author explains that she isn't putting out a Pollyanna-like theory that you can have just as much fun with very little money as you can with a lot of it, but that, given the right point of view, you can have enough fun. And she does not mean dowdy fun of the type which is dimmed by a making-the-best-of-it attitude.

"The first thing not to do is to go around complaining about your lot in life," Miss Hillis says. "There is no one in the world who can't think up enough causes for complaint to make him (or her) pretty eloquent on this subject, if he really tries, as so many do."

Elsa Maxwell Is Right
Later on, in her own amusing style, she speaks of things you ought to do regardless of how limited your budget is. One of these concerns parties.

"We've already said that you ought to give parties, or at least a party now and then, and we don't want to be told that parties cost money. We know that already, but we also know that the best parties are not the ones that cost the most money."

One more thing to do give pres-ents, says Miss Hillis, is to give pres-

Las Vegas Is Setting Of Wedding

At 10 o'clock this morning, Miss Evvaleta Richards became the bride of Herman A. (Mickey) Walker of Santa Ana at a simple ceremony performed in the chapel of the First Lutheran church of Las Vegas, Nev. The rites were read by the Rev. Edward A. Wesel, and the couple was attended by Mr. and Mrs. Van Pomeroy (Katherine Harbert) of Santa Ana.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Charles Berry of Anaheim, wore a smart ensemble in blue and white, with a short military cape of white, touched with coronation blue embroidery. The same vivid shade trimmed her white leghorn hat and colored her accessories. For "something old and something borrowed" she wore a quaint old cameo belonging to her grandmother.

Mr. and Mrs. Walker will make their home at 1212 South Birch street after a fortnight's honeymoon. The former is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John O. King of Orange, and is engaged in business with his brother in Santa Ana.

JUNIOR R. N. A. IS FORMED

Royal Neighbors of America launched a junior chapter in Santa Ana this past week when a group of young people met at the home of Miss Audrey Steele, 911 West Fourth street, for purpose of organization.

They will meet July 10 for a skating party, with a picnic later at Birch park. Officers have not yet been elected.

ATTEND TEA IN NEW LA JOLLA HOME

Mrs. John P. Scripps and Mrs. Edgar Elstrom were among the guests at a delightfully unique reception in La Jolla on Saturday, when they drove down to assist the former's mother, Mrs. Lowry McLanahan, in receiving friends from 4 to 7 o'clock in her newly completed home on Lookout drive, La Jolla.

Keeping everything in the atmosphere of the Cape Cod architecture of the home, the hostess had a horse and buggy tied at the curb when the guests arrived, and she and those assisting her were in colonial costumes.

Mrs. McLanahan was in a peacock blue frock of early day style, and Mrs. Scripps and Mrs. Elstrom, who stood in the receiving line with her, wore flowered chintz gowns, the former's in her newly completed home on Lookout drive, La Jolla.

Others assisting in hostess duties were Mrs. James Whittlesy, Mrs. Lawrence Smith, Mrs. Montgomery Brackett, Mrs. Girt Fleet and Mrs. Dorothy Peterson. Several hundred guests called during the afternoon.

MORE VACATION TRIPS ARE TOLD

Continuing the exodus of local people on summer vacation tours, Miss Josephine Arnoldy of Santa Ana, Miss Beatrice Brockman of Huntington Beach, Mrs. Nellie Wilkinson of Lido Isle, and Miss Gwendolyn Padgett of Burbank left yesterday on the S. S. Taiyo Maru for a Cook's Tour of the Orient.

Aboard the same ship was Miss Ruth Stephens, bound for Japan, China, and Manila, who will return on the S. S. Empress of Asia via Vancouver.

Planning to leave later in the week are Miss Frances Egge and Miss Grace Robertson, who sail June 26 aboard the S. S. Lurline for the Islands. Already there are Miss Alverda West and Miss Margaret Glenn, who plan to spend the summer in Hawaii.

Still another delightful trip arranged by the Julia Ann Hyde Travel Bureau is the tour of the continent which Miss Lorraine Oliver and Miss Virginia Jones will make, sailing on the S. S. Lafayette June 29 and returning on the Ile de France Sept. 3.

Artist Finds Career In Flowers

Editor's Note: Continuing her series of articles on "Women in Interesting Occupations," Dr. Mary E. Wright writes today of an artist in flowers.

By DR. MARY E. WRIGHT
Every artist has his choice of a wide variety of materials with which to express his or her artistry, whether it be oils, water colors, or charcoal, flowers or garlands, houses, dress materials, or the magic of words.

It is in the field of flowers, where Nature has provided so abundantly of lovely material for artistic fingers, that Mrs. Lillian Warhurst, one of Santa Ana's florists, found her vehicle of expression.

Starting work in flower shops during the years of depression, she grew to love it and soon went north to study arrangement of flowers under experts.

Owning Her Business
In the very midst of the depression, she surprised her many friends by renting a room in a newly opened building and starting her own flower shop, and since then she has been always the sole owner of the business.

That was six years ago, and next month, she expects to add two adjacent rooms to take care of her growing patronage. She has in her employ, Mrs. Leo Millings, who shares her love of flower industry, and her daughter, and lately has secured the services of Lynn Shoot, a graduate of the University of Illinois, where he took special studies in floral work and arrangement.

Funerals and weddings form the greater part of the orders, one of the largest being for three large pieces ordered by brothers for a departed sister.

Orders From Abroad
Four weddings on one day in this wedding month of June was another large order.

Orders by telegraph come from all parts of the United States and by cablegram from London and Honolulu and other countries.

As business conditions continue to improve, Mrs. Warhurst says, she gets more orders for party decorations. This interview was secured in the workshop while flying fingers were finishing a lovely piece of pink roses and maiden hair fern.

Mrs. Warhurst's artistry is noted in the new arrangements daily in her show window, which attracts downtown shoppers to her side of the street—and for those who would wear a boutonniere, a flower holder just outside the door is always filled with fresh bachelor buttons for any who care to have one.

New Style Curtains Simple to Make

Something new in curtains! The side draperies plain, the glass curtains patterned. And, if you like, you can loop back both glass curtains, swag style.

For a lovely color combination try draperies of larkspur blue poplin, curtains of white voile flowered in cameo pink. Or for formal rooms—bottle green saten, ivory rayon voile with a leaf pattern in light green.

And you can easily make these smart curtains look professional! Your glass curtains will hang straight and true if you pull threads along the edges of your material to guide you in cutting. To prevent drawing snip all the selvages.

For French pleats for the draperies, make a double 6-inch heading. Pin in deep pleats and divide each one into three small pleats. Sew to curtain rings.

Complete directions and diagrams are given in our 32-page booklet. New styles in curtains, draperies, valances, trimmings.

Send 10c for your copy of How to Make Curtains and Draperies to The Journal, 115 East Fifth street. Be sure to write plainly your name, address, and the name of booklet.

Japan is pressing the United States hard for first place in world rayon yarn production.

UNITED TWIN BILL DUE AT STATE

Drama, mystery and romance are copiously mixed in the new twin feature program scheduled to open Wednesday at the State theater for an engagement of two days.

The drama and romance are contained in "Outcast," starring Warren William and Karen Morley. It is the tale of a physician, acquitted on a murder charge, and hounded from city to city by a woman who believes him guilty. When she realizes his innocence and her love for him, she is unable to stop the fury of a mob she had incited against him.

With them in the cast are Lewis Stone, Jackie Moran, John Wray, Christian Rub, Esther Dale and Jonathan Hale.

"Fair Warning," the other feature, contains the mystery and romance. It stars J. Edward Bromberg as a detective called upon to solve a secret murder in Death Valley's moonlit playground. He solves it by tricking the slayer into exposing himself, thus clearing as suspects two young persons in love with each other. With him in the cast are Betty Furness, John Howard Payne, Victor Kilian and Billy Burrud.

The bride cut a beautiful wedding cake before departing with her new husband for a short honeymoon. On their return, they will make their home at 834 East Washington avenue.

Guests at the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Lee, Edward Terrell and T. E. Simmons of Santa Ana, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Clark and Jean, Mr. and Mrs. Francis Sherman, Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Knight, and Mr. and Mrs. John Jacobson of Costa Mesa, Miss Laura Wright, Mrs. Lola Anderson, Miss Dorothy Rose Strubel, Balboa, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Lee, Torrance, Mrs. Irma Barnell, Long Beach, Lane, Chappell, Boulder City, Nev.; Mr. and Mrs. O. D. Wright of Midway City, Miss Golda Cook, Guy Dawson, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Sebold, Los Angeles, Ed Lee, Selma.

The bride is a graduate of Newport Harbor Union High school, and the bridegroom attended both Tustin and Santa Ana high schools.

The version most widely known is the sixth, written by Lincoln some time after he made the speech for incorporation in George Bancroft's "Autograph Leaves of Our Country's Authors." But did he say precisely that—that is the question.

One Solution
Personally, I liked the Charles Laughton version in "Ruggles of Red Gap." Why don't they run the picture again and find out what Laughton said Lincoln said?

No flower blushes so thoroughly unseen as a Hollywood actor in a picture. He can play a coking hit in a two-reel comedy and still be "discovered" the first time he clicks in a major feature.

Benny Baker—friend of Kenny but no relation—was supposed to be pretty funny in some two-reelers. But he got nothing more to do for nine months. He was at the point where he had to decide whether he'd give his car to the collector here or in New York, and

Basil Rathbone, the meanie, plays the romantic lead in the Bobby Bren feature, "Make a Wish." To calm audience fears that Rathbone is up to his old tricks, the scenarists plotted a three-minute scene at the beginning showing that he is a nice, philosophical fellow. In three minutes you're supposed to erase all those bogeyman ideas you've got about him. It's a real test.

Studios often pass up a player who then proceeds to score a hit at another plant. What Metro reported on Deanna Durbin, who clicked at Deanna, is not in the archives.

But I think the report card on Fred Astaire, who made his first film at MGM, takes the prize for picturesqueness in blundering. "Slightly bald and can dance a little," said the fellow who is probably an ex-Metroite now.

LOVE IN EARNEST—They played at love in the movies, but it is the current report that Tom Brown, juvenile actor, and Barbara Read, actress, have given up the make-believe of acting and Hollywood may see a real romance.

SPANISH FILM AT PRINCESS ASKS TO SERVE WIFE'S TERM

Having obtained one of the outstanding Spanish pictures, "El Primo Basilio," weeks before it was scheduled to appear here, Harold Simpson, manager of the Princess Theater at Fourth and Spurgeon, opens it tonight for a three-day run.

Last week many persons attended the showing of the all-Spanish picture of the life of Pancho Villa and commented on its splendid photography and sound reproduction. Students of foreign languages are among those in the audience and thus get first hand language instruction while enjoying these weekly attractions.

"El Primo Basilio" is from a well known novel and deals with the love and hatred of a man and his wife during the years he is away and the customary triangle develops.

Added features will be a full length comedy and cartoon.

Movie Actress Weds Broker
HOLLYWOOD.—Nancy Chaplin, movie bit player, revealed she has married C. Hedrick Strickrod, insurance broker. They met, she said, when Strickrod came to her to patch up a quarrel with her fiancé, his best friend. He failed in the effort but won her.

What bothers them is that they've unearthed eight versions of the address. Which one they'll use in "Gettysburg" is still undecided. It boils down to this: Lincoln himself wrote six of the versions, one before he left Washington, one at Gettysburg before the dedication ceremonies, and four afterward. A reporter transcribed the seventh, and Charles Hale, member of the Massachusetts delegation to the ceremonies, transcribed the eighth in longhand, unofficially.

The version most widely known is the sixth, written by Lincoln some time after he made the speech for incorporation in George Bancroft's "Autograph Leaves of Our Country's Authors." But did he say precisely that—that is the question.

Basil Rathbone, the meanie, plays the romantic lead in the Bobby Bren feature, "Make a Wish." To calm audience fears that Rathbone is up to his old tricks, the scenarists plotted a three-minute scene at the beginning showing that he is a nice, philosophical fellow. In three minutes you're supposed to erase all those bogeyman ideas you've got about him. It's a real test.

Studios often pass up a player who then proceeds to score a hit at another plant. What Metro reported on Deanna Durbin, who clicked at Deanna, is not in the archives.

But I think the report card on Fred Astaire, who made his first film at MGM, takes the prize for picturesqueness in blundering. "Slightly bald and can dance a little," said the fellow who is probably an ex-Metroite now.

GAINES

Now, how about going a mile or two outside our bailiwick and doing a bit of exploring?

Instead of Midway City or Capistrano or Fullerton, we're galloping down to Dutch Guiana for a spell along with Red Barnett, former Journal correspondent from Laguna Beach. Red, not so long ago, got a traveling bug, and pops up 'way down there.

First, we have a postcard. Very brief, but also very descriptive. Red, knowing the editorial weakness, says "Fine fishing here, admiral, but the fish are the ones that do the fishing."

"They think nothing of chewing off a nice arm or leg. Black or white."

Wonder what the fish use for bait?

And then on steamship stationery (tisk tisk!) he writes more. "Just a note," Red claims, "to continue to haunt you and let you know that I haven't yet gone native or been gnawed by a mad bug."

"But, speaking of bugs, there are lots of mosquitoes here and they bite hard and often, but are not malarial contagious. Nevertheless, they're very annoying, so I've decided to devote my life to the interests of science. Shall cross a firefly with a mosquito. So, lying in bed at night, you can see 'em coming and swat the pests easily."

"And, about the fish situation," he continues, "here's one for the Lynx Scotsman. The Bush Niggers catch Peral, Wallappa, Praprie, Srieha, Kwasiemama, Meatioli, Datra, Krobia, Pasisi, etc. During the rainy season they don't bite well, so the natives take the leaves and roots from Nokol and Koenemi and mix it up with cassava and cork into lumps and throw it into the river."

"Then," he adds "the run downstream and grab the fish as they come floating by, paralyzed drunk by the concoction."

"I'm starting a farm next week to grow those herbs, or trees or grasses, or whatever they are!"

"The bush Niggers work a month or two during the year cutting timber," Red continues. "They buy salt, sugar, oil and hammocks from the stores and eat fish, cassava, fruit, vegetables, etc."

"As we passed their canoes and huts on the river, they shouted at us, wanting food or anything we could give. They're especially fond of chip straw hats, but do not wear them. They like to see their bodies, believing it makes them weak."

"Met some people just back from St. Laurent. They say the sheets are filthy, yet the vultures sit on the prison walls facing inside. And swoop down occasionally."

"(Nice thought, huh?)"

"The tales of privations at the prison colonies apparently are true, but worse off are the liberates sort of trustees, those who have been released. But they rarely get home, as their sentences are for a year and a day or 10 years and a day, but they are never allowed to serve the last day and complete the sentence and so are stuck here."

"Bush Nigger talki-talki sounds like 'The Journal' and 'The News'. Combination of various languages and the meaning vague and subject to change."

"Regards," he concludes, "to the white slaves."

"Ho hum! Boy, crank up the Gaines Navy. We're going traveling!"

"Neither good'n from the Town Crier at Laguna."

"It's appropriately entitled 'Help, help' and concerns a Laguna Beach bride."

"A frantic bride," the article says, "called a gas and electric corporation, complaining that her new refrigerator 'freezes too fast.'"

"The sales supervisor said that an electrician rushed to the scene and found ice cubes piled in every available pan, scattered all over the kitchen floor."

"I thought you had to take them out as soon as they froze," the bride told the electrician."

No remarks about June brides, pliz!

Judge Halsey Spence and Constable Walter Skillman in Fullerton are going to find their names in my little "hate book" one of these days.

I like both of 'em fine, but they invited me out to supper at Archie Rosenbaum's in Carbon canyon a month ago, and the meal has never materialized.

I think an investigation is indicated!

RETURN FROM CABIN

MIDWAY CITY.—Mr. and Mrs. P. H. Marshall and son, Jimmie, returned Saturday from a vacation at Arrow-Bear where they occupied the Harvey Moulton cottage.

ORANGE WILL REPLACE OLD CENTER STREET SCHOOL

PLAN $70,000 PAY-AS-GO PROGRAM

4-Year Program to Save 40 Per Cent Over Cost of Bonds

ORANGE.—Orange elementary school business was placed upon a "pay as you go" basis and plans made for a new $70,000 school structure at a meeting of the board of trustees here last night.

Members of the board created a building fund which eventually will be used to replace the old Center street structure, it was announced. This year $16,000 was placed aside for the purpose of erecting a new structure, and similar amounts will be saved, until at the end of four years enough money will be in the fund to pay for construction work.

Saving Is Told

The Center street building is the oldest in Orange. Replacement under the new plan will save taxpayers about 40 per cent of the usual cost of a bond issue, it was reported.

Superintendent Carl I. Thomas said last night that preliminary plans for the proposed structure have been approved by the state planning board. Replacement of the aged structure has been deemed necessary for some time, he said, as extensive repairs have been required each year before classes could be held each fall.

Budget Is Adopted

Board members adopted a budget totaling $83,300, the same as last year, although the $16,000 building fund will be added to this total. Plans for usual summertime repair of other buildings, including painting and general renovating, were approved and playground equipment for all schools was purchased.

One entire floor of the intermediate school must be replaced due to destruction caused by termites, it was reported.

CLUB SECTION HEADS SEATED

ORANGE.—A party given at the home of Mrs. A. Haven Smith, the outgoing president, ended the current year for the first toastmasters' section of the Woman's club Monday. A luncheon was prepared by Mrs. C. C. Bonebrake and committee.

In a short business meeting, new officers were installed. Mrs. H. F. Taylor was seated as president; Mrs. Vernon Shippe, secretary, and Mrs. M. L. Pearson, treasurer. Charades were played by two groups headed by Mrs. Melissa Johnson and Mrs. G. L. Niles.

Miss Flo Scarritt, a charter member and the only absentee, telephoned her greetings from Laguna Beach, where she is spending her vacation. About 30 club members were present.

TOMATO FIELD DAY TOLD

ANAHEIM.—A field meeting for Orange county tomato growers has been arranged by Ross E. Crane, assistant farm adviser, for Tuesday afternoon, June 29, at the A. W. Lindley place on Ball road, one-fourth mile east of Stanton road, it was announced today.

Fertilization, insect control and new varieties will be discussed. J. E. Elmore, entomologist with the U. S. bureau at Alhambra, will describe results of his study of the tomato pinworm and recommendations for control. All tomato growers have been invited to attend.

Trees Damaged By Fire in River Bottom

ORANGE.—A dozen orange trees belonging to Frank Collins, Villa Park, were scorched when a fire of unknown origin burned over about six acres of the Stanton creek bottom Monday noon. It was thought the fire may have been started on a trash pile, and spread to the creek bottom in the vicinity of East Collins avenue. A six-ton stack of hay was endangered, but was saved by members of the State Forestry service who extinguished the blaze.

Plans and Purposes of State Federation Are Revealed

To carry on the affairs of the California Federation of Women's clubs more efficiently and to have closer contact with its six districts, a board meeting has been planned in each, at which it is hoped some portion of the meeting may be opened to the workers in that particular district.

The first just held in Alameda district at Berkeley with Mrs. Stewart Duncan Robinson of Rio Vista presiding. To be followed by one in San Joaquin district at Fresno, Sept. 29 and 30. Others are scheduled for Nov. 30 and Dec. 1 in San Francisco; February 3 and 4, 1938, in Sacramento, Northern district; and March 23 and 24 in Riverside, Southern district. The final board meeting of the year will be held on May 24 to be followed by the convention at the Hotel Ambassador Los Angeles, May 25, 26, 27 and 28, 1938.

District convention dates are announced as follows: Southern, Nov. 16 to 19; Alameda, April 4, 5 and 6; Northern, April 6, 7 and 8; San Joaquin valley, April 18, 19, 20; Los Angeles, April 20, 21, 22, and San Francisco, April 27, 28 and 29.

Three new clubs have been accepted into the state federation—the Council of Jewish Women's organizations of Los Angeles, the San Francisco District Alumni, and the Korbell Women's club of Humboldt county. Mrs. John Stewart of Hemet, junior past president of Southern district, who brought 16 clubs into the federation during her administration, is the state chairman of Federation Building, it is announced.

As the primary objective for her two years regime, Mrs. Robinson has set "the highest type of citizenship we can contribute to the nation." To achieve this goal, the program will include a study of

OFFICE by Nelly Graf

INDERELLA

© 1937 by United Feature Syndicate, Inc.

Patty Lou Palmer, old-fashioned, hard-working little stenographer in a branch office of the National Insurance Company, never has any "dates." Realizing that she is missing all the fun in life, she persuades Marcell Gray, the beautiful, but hard-boiled office manager, to include her in a dinner-and-dancing party one night. She meets the wealthy Dale Northcutt, son of the head of the Northcutt Construction Company, a prospective client of the insurance company. Marcell has set her cap for Dale and is furious when he shows his preference for Patty Lou. The next evening, he takes Patty Lou dancing. During the hours that follow, every one in the office notices her happiness. One day, Alice Carr, who is engaged to Chet Brownell, one of the company's bond writers, asks Patty Lou to tell her the "big secret."

As Patty Lou hurried back down the hall, she passed Marcell, who stared at her curiously. A shiver ran through her.

Marcell went on to the rest room. There she stopped abruptly at sight of Alice.

"Tears? For heaven's sake, Alice, are you insisting on a nervous breakdown? If there's one thing we don't want in the office, it's a gloom. You are certainly headed in the direction of it!"

"What do you mean, taking Chet away from me when you—when you—"

"Shut up," snapped Marcell. "If you weren't such a sap, you'd be able to hold him. As it is, I shall to him. So what?"

"B-b-b-but you aren't in love with him. You know you aren't!" Alice protested, brokenly.

"Love?" There was withering scorn in Marcell's voice. "Of course not. I'm sensible. I never intend to love any man. But don't worry—I have no idea of marrying Chet. I'm out to get Dale Northcutt. You can have your Chet back when I'm through with him."

"Is that so?" Alice interposed, in swift anger. "Well, maybe I won't have him back."

"No-o-o?" jeered Marcell. "Your darling Chet?"

"Oh, hush!" screamed Alice. "I'll tell Chet what you said. I'll show you! As for Dale Northcutt—you won't marry him! It took an insignificant little kid like Patty Lou to get Dale Northcutt!"

FOR a moment, there was absolute silence in the room. Then Marcell's sly laugh sounded. Suddenly, she walked over to Alice and put both arms around her.

"Forgive me, dear—I should have explained, but thought it best, not to, though Chet wanted to."

"What do you mean?" Alice moved away from Marcell and eyed her suspiciously.

"Honey, I'm surprised at you. You're usually shrewd. Chet and I are just being good friends until after the Northcutt bond is written. I can help him, and for your sake, I can help him. But if this attitude of your keeps up . . ."

Marcell shrugged.

"You mean . . . Marcell, is that on the level?"

"Of course—if you are going to take my good intentions this way. I'll stop."

"No, Marcell—no!" Alice was pleading now. "Chet has to have that business! If he misses it!" She paused and shuddered. "He said once that if there were any slip-ups on the Northcutt matter, it was curtains for him."

"Then there must be no slip-ups!" Marcell said coolly.

"Do help him, Marcell! You're influential. I'm terribly ashamed I've asked this way. I apologize."

"All right, Alice—I'll help him for your sake. Now tell me what you meant by saying, 'It took an insignificant little kid like Patty Lou to get Dale Northcutt.'"

"Oh, I didn't mean anything," Alice said nervously. She didn't want to get Patty Lou in bad.

"Tell me," said Marcell.

"Alice started to move away, but Marcell gripped her wrist."

"Tell me," Marcell's cold eyes were black slits as she forced Alice to look at her.

Alice felt perspiration break out on her forehead. Oh, why had she mentioned Patty Lou?

RECORD ENTRY LIST SET FOR 'SNOWBIRD FLIGHT' AT HARBOR

100 INVITED TO COMPETE IN EVENT

Course for Tiny Craft Is Outlined By Committee Arranging Program

NEWPORT - BALBOA. — "The world's largest yacht race for the world's smallest yachts" will be held here July 11.

Nearly 100 entries are expected for the second annual "Flight of the Snowbirds" which last year proved so popular that nearly double the record-breaking 52 entries last year is anticipated.

Chamber of commerce officials have named a committee to make arrangements for the race for tiny boats, manned by skippers ranging from six years well into their teens. H. B. Stewart, representing Newport Harbor Yacht club, will be general chairman, it has been decided.

Small Yachts Popular
Indications that such races are leading into establishment of a class for youngsters' races have been noted in many yachting centers of the country, and Newport-Balboa has gained much notice from the competition here, run under regular yachting rules.

George Converse and Leon Heceman will represent the Newport club in arranging for and staging the huge race. Representing the Balboa Yacht club will be Dr. Paul S. McKibben, Dr. J. E. Zeigler and Thornton Hamlin, while J. A. Beck represents the Balboa Yacht club.

Officials Told
M. S. (Robbie) Robinson, editor of "Sea" magazine, Harbormaster T. E. Bouchee and Fire Chief Frank Crocker will take an active part in conducting the competition.

The race will start off the Balboa pavilion, with entries to race westward along the main channel to a point east of the Lido Isle clubhouse, thence return to the eastern end of Balboa Island and back to the starting point. The race will be run under North American Yacht racing rules, to the committee reserving the right to measure any boat and sail after the race, which will be open to all comers.

Starting Time Told
A warning consisting of an air bomb and white flag is set for 1:30 p. m. The preparatory signal, gun and blue flag, is set for 1:35 and the starting signal, gun and red flag, for exactly 1:40 p. m. Several miles of bay front will be open for spectators Harry Harry Welch, chamber of commerce secretary, said today, and a record crowd is expected to view the battle for yachting honors among the youngsters of the yachting fraternity. Youngsters will be any point along the peninsula from the pavilion to the Newport Harbor Yacht club. The north side of Balboa Island and the eastern end of Lido Isle also will make excellent spots for spectators.

Attractive prizes will be awarded winners in the race, members of the committee in charge announced today.

X. N. O. Club In New Home

X. N. O. club members were entertained recently at the attractive new home of Mrs. A. R. Bennett, 415 East Myrtle street.

A tour of the new home was part of the delight of the afternoon, most of which was spent sewing and visiting, and a birthday surprise was also in store for Mrs. H. R. Trott, one of the members, who was showered with tea towels.

At the end of the afternoon, a dessert course was served at one long table centered with flowers in pastel shades.

Members present were the Mesdames Trott, W. R. Edwards, M. O. Johnson, W. L. Harbert, E. E. Perry, B. A. Hershey, and the hostess, and one guest was also included in the group, Mrs. H. L. Pennington. The next meeting will be July 7 at the Hershey home.

Mrs. Perry Davis Hostess

Mrs. Perry Davis was hostess to her card club Monday evening, adding one table of guests to make it a three-table party on this occasion.

Pink sweet peas and snapdragons decked the room where bridge was followed by a late dessert course. Prizes in the card games went to Mrs. Walter Markel, high and to Mrs. Bert Hoffman, second.

Other members present, in addition to the hostess, were Mrs. Bert Banks, and the Mesdames Estelle Schlesinger, Gerry and Daurene Haupt, Irene Ravenkamp and Edwina Maag, and the guests were Mrs. William Faulkner, Mrs. Tony Knipe, Miss Margaret Carson and Miss Bernice Borchard. The last named is a member of the club just home from college for the vacation.

SLATE PLAYS FOR SUMMER AT LAGUNA

LAGUNA BEACH. — A 10-week schedule of professional theatricals, with nightly performances of current Broadway shows, will open July 6, it was announced yesterday.

Frederick Rath, New York playwright, is negotiating with the Community Players board of directors for rental of the Playhouse on Ocean avenue, with the stipulation that he use local talent whenever possible. It is expected that Rath will procure Hollywood professionals for leading roles in the productions.

A board of directors' meeting will be held this week for final negotiations. Some weeks ago, Rath negotiated for the use of the high school auditorium, but the deal was not consummated. Performances, however, will begin July 6 at the Playhouse, playing nightly with the exception of Mondays.

A different play is scheduled for each week, but Rath's selection of plays has not yet been made public.

New York Stocks

NEW YORK. (AP)—The stock market took its cue from steels today, picking up fractions to a point or so.

The trading pulse quickened a little over yesterday and shares sauntered quietly forward, although the rise was not uniform. Traders took courage from efforts to arrive at a peaceful solution of the steel strikes. They bought, timidly at the start, and although they seemed irresolute for a time during the afternoon, most of them stayed on the buying side.

Here and there were signs of short covering, brokers reported. This was induced, some said, by the calm way the market has digested an ample budget of disquieting news lately, including the fall of the Blum cabinet in France and disappointing railroad earnings.

Gay Basket Motif is Fun to Make

Household Arts by Alice Brooks

Colorful Scraps and Easy Patches Form Striking Applique

Basket Applique

PATTERN 5879

Flowers in applique and your chance to turn a wealth of scraps into something practical and gay for your "found use." You'll love sewing down the simple patches that quickly make a block as you visit of an afternoon or evening. Keep all baskets a uniform color, but use every scrap at hand for making the flowers themselves, giving them stems of outline stitch. If you'd like a matching pillow top, one block (it measures 11 inches) would do nicely. In pattern 5879 you will find the Block Chart, an illustration for cutting, sewing and finishing, together with yardage chart, diagram of quilt to help arrange the blocks for single and double bed size, and a diagram of block which serves as a guide for placing the patches and suggests contrasting materials.

To obtain this pattern send 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred) to The Journal, Household Arts Dept., 117 E. 5th St., Santa Ana, Calif. Be sure to write plainly your name, address and pattern number.

The Public Gets What It Wants

EVERY now and then some stalwart officer knocks over a gambling dive—like that one which Sheriff Jackson just boarded up at San Clemente, the dream city of red tile roofs, white stucco walls and mortgages.

But it is as clear as spring water to anyone who will take the trouble to look that the big-time gamblers really have their foot in the door in California.

The biggest joint of all—Santa Anita gambling track—proves that the pari mutuel machines are just as important as the horses. Take either one away and the place would fold up.

Dog racing has been legalized again. And even here in Santa Ana the marble machines once more are paying off the lucky customers in cash—after being hurrahed out of town some months ago amid righteous indignation.

It just goes to show that the public gets what it wants legally—or without the benefit of law. The human species got booze during prohibition, and it is getting its dice and cards today.

Wally has been dropped from the New York Social Register. Evidently somebody succeeded in crowning her.

What Price Parking Meters?

LATEST correspondence from the parking meter front indicates that curbstone cash collectors are doing duty in about 30 cities—three times the number that had them on August 1. We get our information from the current issue of Western City magazine.

They have been tried and kicked out in six additional cities, and at present are the center of what may be described as a spirited controversy in dozens of others, including our own.

Courts have been asked to pass on the legality of the gadgets, and the current situation seems to be that parking meters are permissible so long as the city fathers don't try to make a business profit over and above the expense involved in proper regulation.

On that basis, it looks to us like the nickle-an-hour fee which many cities soak the suffering motorist is far too high. There is about as much upkeep on a parking meter as there is to a pay telephone. All you have to do is wind the clock and take out the cash.

What do you suppose that Washington, D. C., will do with 25,000 good turns daily during the Boy Scout Jamboree?

Monument to the Gas Tax

IF THE VACATION BUG sends you putt-putting north this hot weather, our private dispatches indicate that there is a good time to be had driving over the new San Simeon-Carmel link of the Roosevelt highway.

California road crews have just used $8,000,000 and a lot of dynamite to blast out a motor trail in the face of precipitous mountains which heretofore have been visited only by natives and seagulls. And the blue Pacific glimmers along the whole stretch from Big Sur to Morro.

Don't try to take the trip before next Sunday. The official dedication is scheduled for that date, and the guards are turning back all who try to crash the gate in advance.

Our informant advises us that you don't realize what a whale of a lot of road building can be done on 3 cents a gallon gasoline tax until you drive the San Simeon-Carmel route.

One way some parents can get the respect of their children is to be respectable.

He Provided His Own Relief

EVEN if Jimmy Braddock suffers a beating tonight he won't have to shuffle back to his old berth on the WPA. Because his cut on the gate receipts will be some $400,000, based on 50 per cent of the gross take.

But after the pugilist's manager and Uncle Sam's income tax agents have chiseled off their share, Braddock's $400,000 will look like a woolen sock after a trip to the Chinese laundry.

The net receipts should be fat enough, however, to support Jimmy, his wife and kids in proper style for a long time. That is, if he doesn't invest in the wrong kind of stocks and bonds.

The champ's income has grown faster than a 15-year-old boy. Three years ago he was glad to get $15 a week leaning on a WPA shovel. Tonight he draws $400,000 for a single performance!

Looks as if a Russian general would be safer in a war.

They Passed Only 185 New Laws

THE New Jersey legislature, recently adjourned, established a record. It enacted only 185 new laws, fewer than any other session since 1887—and about 3600 less than our own legislature ground out.

New Jersey, we suppose, is not so different from other states as to have any shortage of problems crying urgently for solution. Certainly it must have more problems than it had 50 years ago.

Yet the legislature and the governor decided that 185 new laws were enough. Surely more laws would have been passed if there had been great public demand for them.

Perhaps this New Jersey record is an omen of change—an indication of dawning realization that making a multiplicity of laws isn't necessarily the best way to solve all problems.

NEW YORK.—Bud Kelland is now regarded as the most financially successful male fiction writer of his time. Kathleen Norris is the most successful on the distaff side. Kelland was among those strangled flat by the depression but one who went right along as though nothing happened and today is materially secure again.

His best known work—due to its movie success—is "Mr. Deeds Goes to Town" yet he regards it as his least significant effort. In fact, he is more than likely to change the subject abruptly when mentioned. His choicest companion away from the typewriter is Grantland Rice.

Kelland reverses most of the conceptions of the popular author. He hails from a whistle stop in Michigan and despite his years of contact with the city, still has a plow-jerked look. He is the fellow you see sitting on the mail truck whistling as you pass the depot at Lathrop, Mo.

Yet he is regarded as one of the town's most acedulous, sophisticated. He can put over a stinging line like a whip lash and his wit that crackles every week at the Dutch Treat luncheon has no reverence for celebrity. But they blush furiously and cry for more.

Harry Wills, the colored fighter, who often could not find men brave enough to fight him, has almost passed from the headlines save for the 30-day fast which he continues to indulge every year. At 45, he is still in superb physical form and is one of the better liked members of his race in Harlem. His people believe he would easily have been champion if his challenges had not been many times ignored. He dresses quietly and has a modest income carefully saved from ring endeavors. His chief companions are Bill Robinson and Cab Calloway.

Ward Morehouse is one of the town's theatrical chroniclers who manages now and then to turn out an acceptable play. Several have had sizable runs and been successfully filmed. A Southerner from Savannah, Morehouse was a schoolmate of Miriam Hopkins, the actress, whom he often squires to first nights and after theater affairs.

No one knows the why of the sudden cane evanishment. Five years ago the walking stick was so important the well dressed man had three kinds—for morning, afternoon, evening. There were at least 20 shops about town devoted only to the sale of them. Most have closed. There wasn't an actor who would think of walking the Rialto without swinging a stick. Today a bell hop at the Lambs could not recall but three performers who were carrying them. The most noticeable touch to the cane famine was during the Easter Parade when a photographer counted only eight from 10 o'clock a. m. to 1 p. m. However, this is not the first time there has been a sudden stop to canes. It happened in the early 1900's and lasted a year and regained the lost popularity with a greater furor than ever. Caruso is reputed to have revived it.

Sardi's is a mid-town luncheon place frequented largely by people of the theater, press agents and sundry types usual to Broadway. Its main decor consists of panels of caricatures of the great who swung along in the incessant parade. After the passing of several years it is interesting to see what happens to a number of those so limned. Some in total eclipse. A few disappeared and others whose names sparkled in lights over theater marquees now playing small bits in Hollywood or haunting the agencies. The most elaborate of the glorification of celebrities is in the Raleigh Room of the Warwick, done by Dean Cornwell. This was a carefully executed mural masterpiece, and a triumph in symbology of the modern madness.

Guy Lombardo I hear, is most exacting of the baton wielders. His rehearsals are longest and most frequent. Often he puts his men through a swift pace for three hours right before the broadcast on the old theatrical first night theory that a tired crew often gives its best performances. He has had tunes played as many as 25 times to get certain effects that to the audience seems quite effortless and casual. Lombardo's admiration for his brother Carmen, a member of the orchestra and writer of several top tunes recently, is tremendous. He is the sole topic of his conversation away from the dias.

After two hours of wakefulness last night, sleep came with a fixed smile because this one was finally evolved:

Here is a poem that's half begun . . .

TACOMA—United States Judge C. H. Hanford denied yesterday the motion for a rehearing in the case of Leonard Olsson, the Socialist whose naturalization papers were revoked on the ground that they had been obtained by fraud.

Articles of incorporation were filed today by the Laguna Cliff House company, an association formed for the purpose of keeping hotels, restaurants, dealing in provisions, liquors, wines, tobacco, newspapers and periodicals of all kinds, with principal place of business in Los Angeles. The stock is capitalized at $100,000, and the sum of $50 has actually been subscribed.

Clark Simmons was arrested by Officer Hamilton late yesterday afternoon for riding his bicycle on East Sixth street.

Mrs. George Freble and Miss Elsie Harrison left yesterday for Boston, traveling over the Santa Fe.

Miss Ollie Fuller was a passenger on an early car this morning with a shopping tour in Los Angeles in view. Miss Fuller has a married sister in the Angel City, and may decide to remain there a day or two.

Henry H. Todd was a visitor to Los Angeles today. He went on the 7:20 car.

The Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON.—No preaching has been heard more frequently and fervently on the lips of New Dealers than the demand for drastic regulation of speculation and market manipulators. From the President down these operators have been a pet bugaboo of the administration.

In view of this, it is most extraordinary that the administration has gone about enforcing the commodities exchange control act with an apparently studied indifference.

This measure was put on the statute books last June after years of agitation and battling. Its enactment was acclaimed a great New Deal triumph in the interest of the farmer. The law was to be to the farmer what the securities and exchange acts are to the investor in stocks and bonds.

Yet today, 12 months later, so little has been done under this vaunted scourge that even in Washington few remember it exists. This is the administrative record under the act:

Not a single meeting held by the three-man cabinet board. Secretaries Wallace, Roper and Attorney General Cummings—which was given authority to curb speculation on the commodity exchanges.

Not one regulatory rule or order issued.

Not a move made to check wash sales, prohibit bucketing or certain brokers' practice of using customers' funds for their own operations. Traders have been warned that the law prohibits this, but beyond that nothing has been done.

And judging from the timidity and uncertainty displayed by J. W. T. Duvel, chief of the commodities exchange administration created to enforce the law, nothing is likely to be done about it. A career man of many years service in the agriculture department, Duvel gives every impression of having little stomach for the high-powered act placed in his hands.

Publicly he blames lack of funds for the inactivity. Last year congress gave the CEA $300,000 which was used chiefly to assemble a staff of 70, of which 18 are located in Washington. This year $500,000 is being sought for the agency.

Whatever has been the reason, the law has been very thoroughly squelched. Henry Wallace, whose department of agriculture has jurisdiction over the CEA, talks as indignantly as ever about food gamblers and speculators, but he has yet to do anything to curb them with the extensive powers placed in his control.

ASTROLOGY AND SENATORS
Mrs. Frances Parkinson Keyes, wife of the ex-senator from New Hampshire, gets a great kick out of astrology and numerology. The other day she got in touch with a well known astrologist in Washington through a third party, specifying that there must be no names mentioned.

Arriving at the seance, Mrs. Keyes said: "Now after it's all over, my dear, I'm going to tell you exactly who I am."

All during the seance which followed, Mrs. Keyes took careful notes on what the astrologist said and compared them with previous readings. She pronounced it a very accurate reading.

However, the astrologist confessed privately afterward that she thought she was reading Mrs. Oscar Underwood, wife of the late senator from Alabama.

What Other Editors Say

AN EMERGENCY ON FRUIT

(Placencia Courier)

While everyone talks of keeping frost damaged oranges off the market, trademarks are protected by new brand names and inspectors cut and slash to uphold the strictest interpretation of standardization laws, little thought is given the individual orange rancher who is caught in a real emergency, due to the severe cold weather of the past winter. A reasonable attitude toward enforcement of regulations might well mean the difference between return of operating expenses and complete loss of his crop to many a grower, particularly at this time when it becomes apparent the losses have been underestimated and that within a very short time there will be no valencias to market.

Everyone is in favor of separating out the "straw" floaters and discarding all damaged and cull fruit. In Placencia district, there are many groves in which frost damage resulted in slightly desiccated fruit, in which the tiny cells inside the orange were fractured or broken, yet the orange remains firm and is full of juice. This type fruit can be sold for price purposes, and at reasonable prices would give a small return to the grower. The fruit would be satisfactory to the consumer, if sold on fruit stands. Instead the inspectors insist upon enforcing the strictest interpretation of the state laws and throwing out of condemning this type of fruit. The attitude seems to be that no one cares who throws away the rancher's oranges, just so they comply with "the law." And if the Orange county inspector tries to do his duty regulations change slightly on the loose fruit market in Los Angeles, and the gentlemen with long sharp knives gleefully descend upon boxes and after cutting and slashing, order truck loads thrown away.

A conference of ranchers, marketing officials and those who interpret the words written into law designed to standardize California fruits and vegetables, might easily result in an improvement of present conditions in Orange county. That Jack Frost has created an emergency, a year different from any in the past, a season when the interests of the grower might be given consideration, as well as those of the public, is becoming a stern reality.

Orange ranchers know about it, though inspectors and the public must yet be unaware of the damage done.

The Mailbag

TOWNSEND REVOLT

To the Editor: I see my friend, Sharpless Walker, has spilled a big bit of ink in The Mailbag in an attempt to whitewash 12 lieutenants of Dr. Townsend's organization who took a big dose of runny powder on their chief.

This is not the first time this has happened. Nineteen hundred years ago in the Garden of Gethsemane, the only honorable course left open to him, when he found out he could not represent their interests, was to resign. True, he has to represent the district as a whole and to work for the welfare of this country as a whole and not violate his oath of office. But he surely was aware of this when he sought the support of the Townsend clubs in this district.

Be that as it may, none of those who resigned had a vote in congress and the President's supreme court vote will not be impaired by "this noble patriotic gesture" of the 12.

If it is not being too impertinent, may I ask why Mr. Sheppard did not resign his seat in congress? After riding to victory in this district last fall on the Townsend bandwagon, the only honorable course left open to him, when he found out he could not represent their interests, was to resign. True, he has to represent the district as a whole and to work for the welfare of this country as a whole and not violate his oath of office. But he surely was aware of this when he sought the support of the Townsend clubs in this district.

Too, he was surely aware of the stand taken by the Roosevelt administration in regard to the Townsend plan. Could he have been ignorant of the fact that the social security was the package handed to the people as a pacifier or "something just as good"? Does he think the people will be granted both the social security and the old age pension?

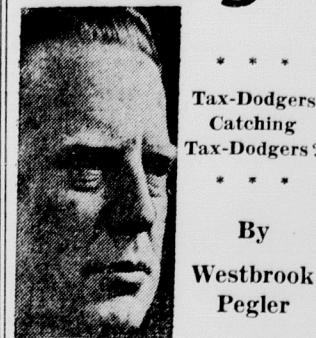

Mr. Walker seems to feel that if Mr. Townsend supports the supreme court bill, that will be pouring oil on the troubled waters to insure safe passage of the Townsend craft through the shoal waters of the constitutional straits. He voices the fear that the present court would "invalidate" the Townsend bill. I have to read between the lines to get his real meaning. Since the social security has become a law and the Townsend plan has not, I think I see where he means that the present court would invalidate, not the Townsend plan, but the social security law.

No one believes that Dr. Townsend is anything but honest, sincere, humane and devoted to his cause. Even ready to go to jail for it. His worst enemies agree that some day he will be elected out where the old people who are no longer wanted in modern industry can be properly cared for in their declining years. And no one believes that the mere pitance allowed by the social security law is an answer.

Dr. Townsend is working toward that goal. Congressmen and other politicians sought the support of his organization, agreeing to lend their support toward the movement. Now that they are deserting like rats from a sinking ship to the Bourbon banner, they are showing their true colors. We are showing their true colors. We are showing their true colors. We are showing their true colors.

FAR Enough

By Westbrook Pegler

WASHINGTON.—Mr. Roosevelt may have figured that his investigation of those who get their civilization at cut rates through income tax evasions would equal the smashing dramatic success of Ferdinand Pecora's inquiry back in the honeymoon days of the New Deal. But a man cannot turn out a hit every day, and it does begin to appear that the boys have laid an egg in this production.

Maybe a misstep is what they need, but if you are asking me, the trouble is that the patriots who are running the present productions are a little self-conscious over the fact that they are cut-rate passengers on the ship of state themselves.

$30 SCARED THEM

Mr. Roosevelt has paid only one income tax for years, whereas other New Yorkers received much less money and less service out of the state and national governments regularly have had to pay two. Mr. Morgenthau, the man who blew the whistle, does not have to pay the state tax on his federal salary, and all the statesmen who are conducting the inquiry are immune to the state tax in their respective home communities, in addition to which, the house of representatives turned down in wild alarm the other day a proposal to tax the $25 or $30 apiece for their share of the local government of the City of Washington.

If the patriots of the lower house had kept their disposition in this grave crisis it would not have been so bad, but several of the best minds grew almost hysterical over the prospect of their having to pay $25 or $30 a year, and the defeat of the tax was a spectacular avowal of the principle attributed to J. P. Morgan, and later modified by him, that a man is a sucker to pay any more taxes than the law requires.

HE FEELS RIDICULOUS

If a patriot prevents the passage of a law which would tax him, it would tax him he feels ridiculous putting the finger on other cut-rate passengers, and, for a fact, he is.

Up to now the complaint of Mr. Morgenthau and Mr. Elmer Irey, of the treasury's detective division, has been mainly that certain individuals did not leave a good-sized tip beside the plate in addition to the price of civilization. The trouble appears to be that the menu contains two or more prices for the fancy meats and heavy gravy, but only one price for beans and other simple fare.

By reading the small type, the dirty rich have been able to save themselves large discounts on their caviar and duck, but the fault lies with the congress which gave them their choice of several prices. Like Mr. Roosevelt himself, in the case of his constitutional exemption, and Mr. Morgenthau with his, the defendants naturally selected the least of the evils and picked up all their change.

Now a suggestion is to be heard in Washington that if some individuals must be compelled to make public explanation of returns of admitted legality it would be not only fair but, possibly better entertainment, if all the members of the committee should be required to do the same.

ROOSEVELT SHOULD PAY UP

And Congressman Ham Fish, a Republican from the district where Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Morgenthau have farms, is urging that, if legal returns are subject to explanation for the record and the amusement of the people, the returns of his two most distinguished, though by no means most contented constituents, should be offered first as evidence of good faith.

Mr. Fish has some neighborhood gossip picked up down around the village store at night, and while he recognizes that gossip is not evidence, and ordinarily should be spurned, he reckons that the treasury doesn't reject gossip as a legitimate lead in obtaining information.

Other taxpayers have had to produce documents and spend hours of time and heavy counsel fees to disprove gossip picked up by the investigators, and, moreover, common talk among the neighbors sometimes leads to interesting discoveries.

A rather gummy way of doing on the part of a government, to be sure, but who started this anyway? But the one great weakness in the show is the fact that those who have denounced others for obtaining their civilization at reduced rates have themselves been immune to a certain proportion of their just dues under a technicality of doubtful moral quality having the color of legality.

You may very well say, all right, set a tax-dodger to catch a tax-dodger, but, after all, would it be nice to put it in just those words?

Eating in a breakfast nook of a "tax" is all right, but we like more space when we are wrestling with a refractory piece of fried chicken.
